News Handling Criticized

Goldwater Raps 'Crisis' Policy Of Administration

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater has fired strong criticism at the administration for its handling of news on the latest Tonkin Gulf incident, and charged that President Johnson has a "crisis-of-the-week" foreign policy.

The Republican presidential candidate, who campaigns today in Charlotte, N.C., said Sunday night in a statement:

"This administration's lack of purpose, direction and even honesty in its conduct of the cold war has led to what now may be described as a crisis-of-the-week foreign policy.

"This weekend's crisis involves Viet Nam and another incident in the Gulf of Tonkin.

"The administration has tried to manage the news so that the incident is forgotten as quickly as possible.

"They cannot, however, sweep a war under the rug."

Last Friday, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said in a brief statement that preliminary reports had been received of a nighttime incident in international waters in the Gulf of Tonkin. He said no damage had been reported by American vessels and there was no loss of American personnel.

Nothing more would be said, he added, until an investigation was completed on reports of the new incident in the gulf where North Vietnamese patrol boats made two attacks on American destroyers seven weeks ago. The August attacks brought prompt retaliation. Johnson ordered U.S. planes to hit North Vietnamese patrol boat bases and oil dumps — an action backed by Goldwater.

Johnson called McNamara and other advisers to the White House late Saturday morning to discuss the latest incident, and at midafternoon McNamara announced that two U.S. destroyers on routine patrol in the Gulf of Tonkin "were menaced by four unidentified" vessels Friday and fired warning shots. He said the approaching craft then disappeared.

His Saturday afternoon statement came nearly 22 hours after first reports of the flareup reached the Pentagon. A Pentagon source later said McNamara's 147 - word statement: "Apparently closed the incident for all practical purposes."

But it wasn't closed as far as Goldwater was concerned. In his statement Sunday night, he said the incident raised several questions, among them:

"Why were the American people given no details of the incident for nearly two full days; was something being covered up or, almost as shocking, was there such a confusion of communications that the administration actually didn't know what happened?"

On Friday, Goldwater had said the administration was "waiting for an air mail letter just to find out what happened."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the Democratic vice-presidential candidate, was asked about the incident Sunday night during a television-radio interview, NBC "Meet the Press."

He said the problem was not one of communications, adding:

"The message did get back as to what action was taken by our destroyers, the two destroyers in that area. The problem was not of getting the message back, but of finding out really what happened in the Gulf of Tonkin.

Meeting Set In Effort To Avert Rail Walkout

Vote Sought By Leaders On Key Bills

Congressmen Told Quorum Needed To Act On Measures

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders are trying to bring enough members back to town to tend to business so Congress can get out of town before Election Day.

Since the Senate failed three times last week to show a quorum, Senate leaders have sent urgent telegrams to absent senators demanding that they get back on the job this week.

Senator Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic leader, has made it clear that Congress had to consider six key bills before leaders would adjourn the session and let all members rush out to the campaign trails.

The House also has had its quorum troubles and failed to muster a majority of its members one day last week.

The key problem for Congress appears to be the issue of reapportionment of state legislatures.

Until Congress takes care of it, congressmen may continue to feel it is a waste of time to stay in Washington — particularly when their opponents are stumping back in the home districts.

For this reason, there will be another attempt this week to deal with the issue.

The chief battleground will be the Senate.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois is still pressing for his rider on reapportionment. Senate liberals still plan to filibuster against it.

Both Sides Wait Appeal By Johnson

No Sign Given Yet President Will Act To Stop Shutdown

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Negotiators were reported reassessing their positions today after an all-night meeting aimed at averting a nationwide railroad strike less than 24 hours away.

Chairman Howard Gamser of the National Mediation Board said union and management representatives were standing by for further possible talks in the attempt to break the deadlock over job security.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal mediators meet with the railroads and unions today in hopes of averting a strike against most of the nation's railroads at 6 a.m. Tuesday.

So far there has been no sign that President Johnson will step in personally to persuade both parties to end their dispute, but he is being kept informed of the talks.

Johnson's intervention in April ended a threat by five train-operating unions to shut down the railroad system.

This time the dispute is between six shop craft unions and all railroads except the Pennsylvania Railroad, the Long Island Rail Road, and the Southern Railway system.

The union are demanding what they call adequate job security — including wage protection for shop men who lose their jobs or some pay because of technological improvements in rail rations.

Recommendations on the issue were made last month by a presidential emergency board. Both sides, at the time, said they accepted them. Now they blame each other for the new dispute that has arisen over interpretation of the recommendations.

Federal mediator Francis A. O'Neill met separately with representatives of management and labor Sunday, but no progress was reported.

Jury Studies Mississippi Rights Killing

Sheriff Summoned To Testify On Trio Found Shot, Buried

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — A federal grand jury gathered today to hear secret testimony on the case of the three murdered civil rights workers.

The evidence to be presented was compiled during one of the most intensive investigations in FBI history.

The first witness listed was the sheriff of Neshoba County, Lawrence Rainey of Philadelphia, Miss.

Two of the dead men were white volunteers from New York City. The third was a Meridian, Miss., Negro. They were last seen alive leaving the Philadelphia jail.

Rainey was told to bring arrest records, jail dockets from January to September and membership records of the auxiliary police force.

Deputy Cecil Price also was among those ordered to appear. Price arrested the three men on a speeding charge last June 21 and held them five hours, releasing them at about 10:30 p.m.

Price said he escorted the station wagon in which the three were traveling to the city limits, then turned away.

The burned-out station wagon was found two days later near Philadelphia.

Cliff Tumble Hurts 2 Boys

Wellsville Accident Involves Brothers

A young Wellsville boy was in "fair" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered when he and his brother tumbled down a cliff along Route 7 below Wellsville about noon Saturday.

Tommy McCune, 9, and his brother, Mark, 11, apparently were exploring the hillside above the "super road," authorities said. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCune, 725 Main St.

Wellsville police said Tommy apparently fell first, landing on a ledge about 75 feet from the top of the cliff. When Mark attempted to help he also fell down the hillside. Tommy suffered a fractured heel.

Passing motorists saw the plight of the boys and stopped to aid. Helping get the youths down were E. F. Quinn of Cuyahoga Falls, Clarence Wagner of Valleyview, R. W. Taylor of Ravenna and James Knight and Bruce Ohler, both of Minerva, who provided the rope.

Police said the site was just outside the city limits. The rescue operations were already started when officers arrived.

PENNSYLVANIA State Police at Carnegie said Jyachosky was headed north on Route 168 when he swerved to miss a cow on the highway and lost control of the auto. The auto then left the highway and struck the tree, officers said. The mishap was timed at 7:45 a. m.

The auto was towed to a Chester service station. The injured were removed to the hospital in an ambulance.

Reds Pound Viet Forces, Tribes Revolt

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam's military forces suffered one of their bloodiest weekends on record in the fight against the Communist Viet Cong, military sources said today. They reported 230 casualties inflicted on government troops.

The most serious government setback took place Saturday in a battle near the Cambodian border, the informants said. The Viet Cong killed 23, injured 41 and escaped with 150 weapons. Government troops countered Sunday in a fight south of the Viet Nam border in which 58 Viet Cong were killed and 15 others captured.

The other casualties were suffered in other weekend battles.

Premier Nguyen Khanh's shaky regime, almost toppled a week ago, faced other harsh new problems. A strike virtually paralyzed Saigon and a mountain tribal revolt put the spotlight on troubles in central Viet Nam.

Most of the 20,000 workers who walked off their jobs today were Catholics.

Weirton Man Gets Hancock Sanitary Post

Glen Montgomery To Direct Broader Health Program

Looking ahead to a broader health program and enlargement of the staff, the Hancock County Board of Health has named Glen E. Montgomery as chief sanitarian of the county.

Montgomery, 51, of Weirton will supervise the broader program to be implemented by himself, A. T. Knabb and a third sanitary engineer to be hired soon.

He has worked in the county as a sanitary engineer for eight years. The Board of Health is seeking permission from the State Civil Service Commission for a salary increase because of the promotion.

The board was to have interviewed an applicant for the third engineer's post today, but canceled the interview at noon until later.

The county has had only two sanitary engineers for 25 years, but during that time the population increased from roughly 28,000 to about 40,000 and the work of the sanitarians increased in proportion.

Their jobs include checking all wells, spetic tanks and food

Venezuela Welcome Set

DeGaulle Begins Long Latin Tour

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — A big welcome and a strong security guard await President Charles de Gaulle today in Venezuela at the start of his 27-day Latin American goodwill tour.

The nation, wealthiest among the 10 he is to visit, readied a booming 21-gun salute and a dazzling military display for the 73-year-old chief of state.

Strict security measures were ordered for De Gaulle's ride with President Raul Leoni from the airport to downtown Caracas, bedecked with flags and bunting.

Officials fear there may be attempts on De Gaulle's life by exiled members of the French Secret Army Organization living in South America. Terrorist attacks are also frequently made in Venezuela by the pro-Castro Armed Force for National Liberation — FALN.

During his 30-hour visit to Caracas De Gaulle will address Congress and confer with President Leoni, who is expected to sound out the French leader on advantages of a Latin-American common market. Leoni hopes to attract more French investment to his country and would also welcome more French technicians to train labor.

De Gaulle and his wife left Paris Sunday for the longest stay abroad of any French chief of state since the days of Napoleon I. He spent the night at Pointe-a-Pitre, capital of France's Guadeloupe Island in the Caribbean.

Some concern has been expressed that the trip may prove too much for the president, who underwent a prostate operation six months ago. He will deliver 50 speeches and travel more than 20,000 miles before returning to Paris Oct. 16.

After Venezuela, De Gaulle will go to Colombia, Ecuador, Bolivia, Peru, Chile, Argentina, Paraguay, Uruguay and Brazil.

The long-planned tour is another move by De Gaulle to restore to his nation influence lost in the two world wars. His chief aim is to strengthen good relations with Latin America, which may lead to long-range French aid.

Residents Evacuated

Forest Fire Destroys 35 Homes In California City

CALISTOGA, Calif. (AP)—A fast - moving forest fire destroyed 35 homes in this Napa County resort town today and touched off smaller threatening fires in five surrounding communities.

Police Chief Kenneth Hively said at least 35 homes and other structures—including historic Tubbs Mansion, a Calistoga landmark — had gone up in flames.

Reports of fires were coming in from other communities nearby in the Napa Valley, famous for its wine grapes.

Calistoga police said fires had been reported in Vallejo Lakes, six miles east of Napa; in Rutherford, north of Calistoga, in Angwin and Stonecrest.

The fire showered Calistoga homes with burning ash and cinder, touching off several roof tops.

More than half the town's 2,500 residents and tourists have been evacuated, police said. There were no immediate reports of casualties, they said.

The fire broke out in the Redwood Forest north of Calistoga shortly after noon Sunday and turned toward the city when winds changed late last night.

It moved down into the city limits shortly after midnight, police said.

"We're using school buses, trucks or anything we can get to evacuate the people," the officer said.

Calistoga, a resort area known for its mineral springs, is about 75 miles north of San Francisco, in the heart of the California wine belt.

The area produces most of the Napa grapes, popular for making burgundy wines.

Police said it was not immediately determined if the fire had struck the vineyards.

Crews Push Rescue Of 4 In Test Shaft

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Four men have been trapped for more than 36 hours at the bottom of an 1,800-foot nuclear test shaft at the Nevada test site. The trapped men are working to aid their rescue, the Atomic Energy Commission reports.

A heavy-gauge elevator cable snapped at the 1,100-foot level Saturday, whiplashing upward and killing James C. Gray, 45, of Indian Springs, Nev., who was standing at the mouth of the shaft. Three other men standing near Gray were slightly injured.

When the cable snapped there were three wire men and a miner at the bottom of the shaft in a room excavated to one side. They are trying to move the 700 feet of collapsed cable into the excavated room.

The men were identified as Leland Roeder, of Pioche, Nev.; George R. Cooper, of Tucson; Art Luhnow, of North Las Vegas, and Lloyd L. Shaw, of Santa Barbara, Calif.

Food and water have been lowered to the trapped men through a small ventilation shaft, the spokesman said.

Goldwater Raps 'Crisis' Policy Of Administration

Venezuela Welcome Set

DeGaulle Begins Long Latin Tour

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — A big welcome and a strong security guard await President Charles de Gaulle today in Venezuela at the start of his 27-day Latin American goodwill tour.

The nation, wealthiest among the 10 he is to visit, readied a booming 21-gun salute and a dazzling military display for the 73-year-old chief of state.

Strict security measures were ordered for De Gaulle's ride with President Raul Leoni from the airport to downtown Caracas, bedecked with flags and bunting.

Officials fear there may be attempts on De Gaulle's life by exiled members of the French Secret Army Organization living in South America. Terrorist attacks are also frequently made in Venezuela by the pro-Castro Armed Force for National Liberation — FALN.

During his 30-hour visit to Caracas De Gaulle will address Congress and confer with President Leoni, who is expected to sound out the French leader on advantages of a Latin-American common market. Leoni hopes to attract more French investment to his country and would also welcome more French technicians to train labor.

De Gaulle and his wife left Paris Sunday for the longest stay abroad of any French chief of state since the days of Napoleon I. He spent the night at Pointe-a-Pitre, capital of France's Guadeloupe Island in the Caribbean.

Some concern has been expressed that the trip may prove too much for the president, who underwent a prostate operation six months ago. He will deliver 50 speeches and travel more than 20,000 miles before returning to Paris Oct. 16.

After Venezuela, De Gaulle will go to Colombia, Ecuador, Bolivia, Peru, Chile, Argentina, Paraguay, Uruguay and Brazil.

The long-planned tour is another move by De Gaulle to restore to his nation influence lost in the two world wars. His chief aim is to strengthen good relations with Latin America, which may lead to long-range French aid.

7 Boys Hunted In Flight From Diagnostic Center

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Seven teen-age boys were still at large early today following a mass breakout by 14 youths here Sunday night at the state's Juvenile Diagnostic Center.

Four of the boys were caught within sight of the center.

Three others were captured about three hours after the break by suburban Grove City police who ran them down in a stolen car. The car and a police cruiser were both wrecked. Four more youths fled on foot from the scene.

One of the captured boys was injured and hospitalized. A Grove City policeman, driver of the cruiser, received slight injuries.

The 14 boys, from 13 to 16 years old, slipped out a second-floor dormitory window and dropped to the ground while a guard was busy in a shower room supervising other inmates.

The boys made their escape by prying loose a heavy security screen.

Grove City police identified the three they captured as Myron Arnold, 15, Hamilton County; Donnie Wilson, 13, Greene; and Ronald Burton, 15, Summit. Burton was hospitalized at Mt. Carmel Hospital.

The others, still at large, were John Binns, 14, Cuyahoga County; Michael Gentile, 15, Hamilton; Robert Hahn, 15, Hamilton; Carl S. Jasper, 15, Hamilton; Donald Knece, 15, Pickaway; William Mann, 15, Summit, and Nathaniel McMemore 15, Lorain.

Forest Fire Destroys 35 Homes In California City

CALISTOGA, Calif. (AP)—A fast - moving forest fire destroyed 35 homes in this Napa County resort town today and touched off smaller threatening fires in five surrounding communities.

Police Chief Kenneth Hively said at least 35 homes and other structures—including historic Tubbs Mansion, a Calistoga landmark — had gone up in flames.

Reports of fires were coming in from other communities nearby in the Napa Valley, famous for its wine grapes.

Calistoga police said fires had been reported in Vallejo Lakes, six miles east of Napa; in Rutherford, north of Calistoga, in Angwin and Stonecrest.

The fire showered Calistoga homes with burning ash and cinder, touching off several roof tops.

More than half the town's 2,500 residents and tourists have been evacuated, police said. There were no immediate reports of casualties, they said.

The fire broke out in the Redwood Forest north of Calistoga shortly after noon Sunday and turned toward the city when winds changed late last night.

It moved down into the city limits shortly after midnight, police said.

"We're using school buses, trucks or anything we can get to evacuate the people," the officer said.

Calistoga, a resort area known for its mineral springs, is about 75 miles north of San Francisco, in the heart of the California wine belt.

The area produces most of the Napa grapes, popular for making burgundy wines.

Police said it was not immediately determined if the fire had struck the vineyards.

Crews Push Rescue Of 4 In Test Shaft

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Four men have been trapped for more than 36 hours at the bottom of an 1,800-foot nuclear test shaft at the Nevada test site. The trapped men are working to aid their rescue, the Atomic Energy Commission reports.

A heavy-gauge elevator cable snapped at the 1,100-foot level Saturday, whiplashing upward and killing James C. Gray, 45, of Indian Springs, Nev., who was standing at the mouth of the shaft. Three other men standing near Gray were slightly injured.

When the cable snapped there were three wire men and a miner at the bottom of the shaft in a room excavated to one side. They are trying to move the 700 feet of collapsed cable into the excavated room.

The men were identified as Leland Roeder, of Pioche, Nev.; George R. Cooper, of Tucson; Art Luhnow, of North Las Vegas, and Lloyd L. Shaw, of Santa Barbara, Calif.

Food and water have been lowered to the trapped men through a small ventilation shaft, the spokesman said.

Rest Planned By President After Speech

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson took a day off at home today between out-of-town speeches.

Sunday he hopped to an airport on a West Virginia mountain top and said that America "will begin to decline from greatness" the day it hardens its heart toward the helpless and poverty stricken.

He upheld his poverty program which Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater described as a "phony, vote-getting gimmick" in a speech in the same state Friday.

Tuesday it's back to Atlantic City, N.J., where Johnson delivered his address accepting the Democratic presidential nomination Aug. 27. This time — the trip hasn't been announced formally yet — he speaks to the United Steel Workers Union.

At the end of the week, the President travels to El Paso, Tex., the site of the Eufaula Dam near Enterprise, Okla., and perhaps Texarkana, Ark.—all for oratorical endeavors.

At El Paso, Johnson is meeting President Adolfo Lopez Mateos of Mexico to mark the transfer to Mexico of a few hundred acres of land called El Chamizal. The tract has been involved for decades in a change in course in the Rio Grande and an international dispute over ownership.

The Eufaula Dam affair is a dedication ceremony.

The President went to church Sunday, then flew to Morgantown, W.Va., in midafternoon and dedicated the municipal airport that finally is finished after nearly 30 years of work.

Morgantown has about 26,000 population and the state police estimated 15,000 people turned up at the airport to shout a welcome to the President.

Johnson whipped through his speech in something under 10 minutes and then spent maybe twice as much time working his way along the fences and pumping hands.

The pay raise, retroactive to Sept. 13, came on a wage reopener in three - year contract which runs until 1966 and has another wage reopener next Sept. 13.

Ohio Bell estimated the new pay boost would add $4.6 million to the utility's annual payroll.

Constantine And Anne-Marie

We hope in due time King Constantine of Greece and his bride, the charming Queen Anne-Marie, may visit the United States so this country can add its heartfelt sentiments to their royal love match.

There are times when even a little-d democratic American feels twinges of envy about the fine old European custom of intermarriage among royal families. In fact, there are times when a little-d democratic American wishes it had been possible to break off fealty to the House of Hanover and its twisted scion George III without breaking off fealty to all royalty.

Royalty has its place when royalists are smart enough to do the job right.

It furnishes all of us in the common herd a focal point of loyalty above and beyond shifting and transitory allegiance to elected officials. As has been pointed out so often about our friends in Britain, they literally are held together by the House of Windsor in this century, as they were pulled together and held together in previous times by the Hanoverians, Stuarts and Tudors.

British kings and queens were not always loved as individuals but they were respected as monarchs. And out of continuity of respect came an empire and prestige that continues to this day, in the reign of Elizabeth II.

It is reported that young King Constantine and his girl bride have shown all the signs common to boys and girls in love; that the young king wept with emotion during the ceremony; that all Greece is wishing for their happiness.

The emotion the wedding has unleashed may make Greeks forget less important things for awhile. Yes, indeed, royalty has its place when the royalty is young, attractive and smart enough to do the job right.

Strike Up The Band

The East Liverpool Oriental Band is laying plans for its 10th anniversary celebration next month.

If the attendance and the enthusiasm at the event equal the many pleasant and colorful programs which the group has provided over the years, the occasion should be a gala one.

The band has become a familiar and welcome part of parades and other festivities here, in the district and nationally. It has carried the name of East Liverpool far and wide in a creditable manner.

We hope the music peculiar to this type of organization keeps coming in loud and clear for many, many more years.

Scholarship Group Asks More Members

With another school term under way, it's business as usual for the Citizen's Scholarship Foundation.

The group will hold its opening meeting of the fall Tuesday night at 7:30 in the library of Westgate School.

Last year the foundation — which depends on public contributions for its funds —handled some $20,000, which was distributed in scholarships among 44 students. And this term the scholarship list is scheduled to be even bigger.

With expanded participation in mind, officials of the foundation are appealing for increased attendance at their meetings—beginning with the one Tuesday night.

Anyone who has contributed financially in the past is eligible to take part in the planning sessions and help shape the format.

Where only 10 have been doing most of the work up to this time, the program would be given a tremendous boost if 10 times that number turned up for Tuesday night's meeting. Instead of sitting back and perhaps criticizing, why not come out and perform a constructive service on behalf of the foundation?

Students who are considered for the scholarships attend classes in the East Liverpool, Wellsville, Beaver Local, Midland, Oak Glen, South Side and Western Beaver school districts.

Extra Margin Of Safety

Every auto driver who gives a wide berth to all over-the-highway rigs carrying combustible and explosive cargoes swallowed hard and felt solemn when reading about the Ohio Turnpike accident involving a honeymoon couple whose compact car was struck from the rear by a truck loaded with hydrogen tanks.

In the ensuing explosion and fire, the honeymooners and the truck driver were incinerated.

The newly-married couple never had a chance to avoid the accident; their car was struck from the rear. But the sobering fact about any accident like this is that no one has much of a chance if highly flammable or highly explosive cargoes are involved.

We do not know what needs to be done; perhaps nothing. Perhaps accident statistics would show the hazard is not significant. But if accident statistics were to show that every motorist and every passenger exposed to the possibility of collision with this type of highway conveyance has been robbed of an important part of his normal margin of highway security, it then could be argued that these vehicles call for special precautions not now being taken—perhaps a special escort, possibly extra precautions to make certain they are always being driven with an extra-wide margin of safety.

Experience Needed

"Most of the time it's just hard work." Those are the words of Norman E. Staley, a professional diver who helped to lay a telephone cable across the Ohio River in the vicinity of the Chester Bridge.

And he could have added "dangerous" when undertaken by an inexperienced person. A case at point is the death last month in the Allegheny River of a 19-year-old youth who never had a lesson in scuba diving when he strapped on a rented tank and plunged into the water. The gear was fitted with a "quick release" safety device, but because of his lack of training the diver did not know how to operate the mechanism.

The Ohio is an inviting and challenging body of water for would-be divers, but only those who know their way around in the proper gear should tackle it under any circumstances.

Let's not add "Diving" to the district fatality report.

Letter From Max

By Martin Miller

Dear Truman Twill:

You once said you wished you had known about golf clubs for lefthanded players because you might have improved your "game" with them even though you are righthanded.

This came back to me a week or two ago as I watched on TV the World Series of Golf as played at Akron.

In this match, four of the winners of top tournaments competed in a foursome, and to this hero-worshiper the foursome at times was gruesome.

Tony Lema won and just barely cracked par while Arnold Palmer was way over par for the tourney. In between were Ken Venturi and Bobby Nichols.

Surely, you have heard of them. Usually, they impress us as whizzing around a golf course under par every time, and for several rounds they would have a total score way under par.

It was a sad day for the pros but a great day for the duffers. There still is hope.

There were bogies all over the place. Wildlife conservationists must have enjoyed it particularly, because so few "birdies" were shot.

IF YOU WANT to know what my qualifications are as a golf commentator, I can tell you that I used to play a lot—hardly ever broke 100 on 18 holes, which means I played more golf on 18 holes than most people.

Another fellow came by some hand-me-down clubs and talked me into going with him in the beginning. We both used clubs out of his bag, which never contained more than five. This was good fundamental training because it necessitated the use of the wrong club when he was using the right one — or the nearest to the right one that he had.

Later on, he acquired other clubs and gave me his old clubs, one by one, so that I must have been at least their third owner and possibly the fifth or sixth.

When a golfer says, "Keep your eye on the ball," he means while you are swinging at it so your club head meets the ball squarely. But for us, "Keep your eye on the ball" meant to watch the ball hook or slice into a woods so we would know where to look for it.

WE OFTEN CAME out of the woods with more golf balls than we went in with, having more time and perserverance than the duffers who had preceded us.

Our lack of skill added a certain zest to the game. Once, in what was supposed to be a drive off a tee, the ball caromed at a right angle and narrowly missed konking several persons, including the proprietor of the nine-hole layout.

He was heard to mutter, "How could anyone hit a ball like that?"

That is why my heart went out to Arnold Palmer in the World Series of Golf. How could he hit like that? It was a defeat for "Arnie's Army."

IN A RASH MOMENT I burrowed into a cluttered corner of our garage and retrieved the old golf bag to acquaint the second generation with this fine sport.

If you think Arnold Palmer was having trouble with his putter, you should see my putter. It is of ancient vintage and has a wooden shaft which is warped into the shape of a goose neck.

However, that may be just the correction duffers like you and me need. With a crooked putter like that who needs a lefthanded club?

Faithfully yours,
MAX

Caseload Mounts In District Appeals Court

When the 7th District Court of Appeals judges come to Lisbon next week, they figuratively probably will breathe a sigh of relief. Appealed cases in Columbiana County are down this year, in contrast with most of the court's 13-county district.

To Judges Paul W. Brown, James G. France and George M. Jones, who make up the three-man panel, the fact that only six cases were appealed in Columbiana in the first six months of 1964 makes up, in part, for the figures from the northern counties of the district, which have sent up an already heavy caseload in Mahoning, Trumbull and Lake counties skyrocketing and given the panel the heaviest individual workload in the state.

The work load is even harder to handle at this time because all three of the appellate judges are facing election this fall. Judges France and Jones are required to run to hold the court seats they won by appointment and Judge Brown is seeking a seat on the state Supreme Court.

FIGURES released from Columbus by the administrative assistant to the Supreme Court show that in 1962 the three-judge panel which serves Columbiana and the 12 other counties had only 195 cases in its entire district to hear and decide. In 1963, the number of filings increased by more than a third to 262 cases.

By the end of June of this year case filings had increased to more than 152 for the half-year period alone and reports since show the pace is quickening. If filings continue to increase at their present rate, Judge France, who checks the court's work volume, estimates that it will have more than 350 appealed cases to decide during the current year.

Chief contributor to the increased workload is Mahoning County (Youngstown), where continued grand jury crime investigations and contempt charges have nearly doubled the number of appealed cases in a two-year period, from 74 in 1962 to a projected 144 cases in 1964.

Fast - growing counties in the northern part of the district—Trumbull, Lake and Geauga—also have tremendously increased their already heavy filing rate on appealed cases.

COURT OF APPEALS "business" from Trumbull County (Warren) last year alone increased by two-thirds, from 33 to 55 cases, and a further increase already has occurred so far this year. In the booming communities in Lake County (Painesville), a 25 per cent increase to 38 cases is expected when this year's final figures are in.

But the heaviest increase in appeal case filings comes from once - rural Geauga County (Chardon).

There, appealed cases increased from six (three times as many as Steubenville's) to 11 in the year 1963 alone, a gain of 83 per cent. No further increase is expected there during the current year.

Apart from the fact that each of the three judges must face the electorate, this year (and all three have opponents and must spend time and energy on the campaign trail), the increase in filings is difficult because all three judges are comparatively young (average age 46) and comparatively new to the job.

Judge Brown of Youngstown, the senior member of the panel, has been on the court since 1960. Judge Jones, also of Youngstown, was appointed as recently as the summer of 1963. Judge France of Kent, only member of the court from outside the Youngstown area, is its only member with previous judicial experience. When appointed in 1962, France had served for nine years as Portage County Common Pleas and Ravenna Municipal Judge.

Cases are now decided much more quickly than they were two years ago. In 1962 the average case remained on the docket approximately nine months. Last year this time was cut to a little more than six months.

At its current rate of disposition, all 132 cases now pending in the court, many of which are not yet eligible for hearing, will be disposed of in a little more than four months.

THE COURT'S skyrocketing docket load may astonish many lawyers as well as laymen in the area, but comes as no surprise to the three judges. They are quick to point out that portions of the district have, in the past few years, literally exploded in population.

Even in 1960 the 13-county district had a population of a million and a quarter persons. But with the rapid growth of its five northern counties (Lake, Geauga, Portage, Ashtabula and Trumbull) the million and a quarter figure is hopelessly out of date. The judges now estimate that district population well exceeds a half million persons per judge, far in excess of that in any other court of appeals district in the state.

Included in the local appellate district are almost a third of the 25 largest counties in the state, double the number of populous counties to be found in any of the other nine judicial districts.

Cases come to the court from no less than 25 common pleas judges, in addition to probate and municipal courts, while even the six-judge panel in Cleveland hears appeals from only 21.

BUT IT IS not merely exploding population which gives rise to increased appellate cases; the temper of the communities also has an influence.

Both Trumbull and Mahoning counties have had crime-busting prosecutors, and the vigorous law enforcement has resulted in a rash of appeals in criminal cases. In Youngstown a new policy of trying "bug slip" or numbers cases in the Common Pleas Court for heavy penalties has produced hitherto unknown appeals from this type of criminal conviction. But even this was dwarfed by the filing, last winter, of 34 cases involving convictions for contempt of the grand jury. In Trumbull County, a series of sewer payoff scandals had earlier produced an increase in criminal appeals there.

An even more important factor, in the opinion of the judges, is the recent high rate of turnover in the judiciary at both trial and appelate level. Lawyers tend to "try out" new trial judges by appealing their rulings. And they have been given ample opportunity recently, particularly in the fast-growing northern part of the district. Mahoning County had two new common pleas judges in 1961 and another in 1963. Ashtabula acquired two new common pleas judges in 1961 as well as a new probate judge. Portage County had one new judge in 1961 and another in 1962.

Geauga County changed judges in both its common pleas and probate courts in 1963 and added a new countywide Municipal Court in 1964. Lake added a judge in 1961 and is scheduled for two more new judges in 1965. Trumbull County, in addition to a new probate judge in 1961 and a new common pleas judge coming in 1965, has had many visiting judges sitting by assignment from other counties to relieve its heavy docket load.

These counties make up the 7th District Court of Appeals: Mahoning, Trumbull, Lake, Columbiana, Jefferson, Ashtabula, Portage, Belmont, Geauga, Carroll, Harrison, Monroe and Noble.

'We've Lost The Battle For Men's Minds . . . Both The Russians And American Have Cut Off Aid To Us'

Final Split Looms For Moscow, Peking

By John M. Hightower

WASHINGTON

While the private thoughts of the Kremlin bosses are hard to come by, it is commonly accepted as a fact in official Washington that Nikita Khrushchev is completely fed up personally and politically with the Chinese Communists.

This insight into the mind of the decision-maker on the Soviet side reinforces the growing belief that the Soviet Union and Red China are now headed toward a final split in the fairly near future — probably mid-1965 at the latest.

Khrushchev took a personal snub from 29 Chinese Communist delegates at a World Youth Forum meeting in Moscow as recently as last Wednesday. It was not his first experience. Back in 1959, he suffered the cold shoulder treatment from the whole ruling group around Mao Tze-tung when the Soviet leader visited Peking after his meeting with President Dwight D. Eisenhower and his tour of the United States.

Such personal rebuffs, however much they may irritate Khrushchev, serve mainly to dramatize the kind of struggle which has developed between the two Communist giants over the last five years. For what has happened to Khrushchev personally in a few instances has happened many times in recent years to Soviet representatives at international meetings also attended by the Chinese Communists — meetings of women, students, doctors, African experts. The nature of the session seems almost irrelevent.

BEHIND THE contempt deliberately shown for Kremlin leadership of the world Communist movement is Red China's ambition to seize control from Moscow. Khrushchev decided sometime ago, according to diplomatic information here, that he could deal with Red Chinese rivalry more effectively if the Peking regime were outside the camp.

The conflict began to come into the open in 1959 which was a critical year in Communist development. It was not only the year Khrushchev visited Eisenhower but also the year the Chinese began to make clear their resistance to Khrushchev and his policy of peaceful coexistence by espousing a militant anti-American doctrine.

In that year too, according to later Chinese claims, Khrushchev refused to assist China to become a nuclear power.

The differences have now become so great and the rivalry so entrenched that several developments seem reasonably speculative.

A meeting of Communist party representatives from about a score of countries is to be held in Moscow in December to prepare for a Communist world congress in 1965.

THE RUSSIANS invited 25 other parties to the December conference but the Red Chinese and several others have refused to attend.. These events suggest the possibility of a full break between the Soviet and Chinese Communist parties any time from the start of the December meeting till the end of the projected 1965 conference.

A break on the ideological front, designed by Khrushchev to excommunicate the Chinese Reds as heretics, seems certain to raise tensions between the Russian and Chinese nations closer to the flash point. Border incidents along their long Asian Frontier and around pro-Soviet Outer Mongolia may increase.

As troubles with China grow it seems a safe bet that Khrushchev will try to improve relations with the West in order to secure his Western front while he is menaced from the East.

It is conceivable that China may also try to improve relations with the outside world and this in turn could have a profound bearing on such direct U.S. issues as the anti-Communist struggle in Southeast Asia.

Peking Purge In Offing?

By William L. Ryan

A Stalin-like purge — first such major housecleaning in its history — may be in store for the Chinese Communist party, with high-ranking members of the leadership among its targets.

The tone of Red Chinese pronouncements on the need for a "rectification" campaign in the party leads the reader to suspect that this time the purge will be reminiscent of Stalin's crackdown on the followers of Leon Trotsky and all others who disagreed with him.

THE OBJECT of this purge would be to remove from authority throughout the party any persons suspected of sympathizing with what Peking's propaganda calls "modern revisionists," meaning followers of Soviet Premier Khrushchev. Peking has made "modern revisionism" a cardinal crime for Chinese Communists.

Clearly, in high places in China, there is what the Communists call an "anti-party group" that disagrees with Mao Tze-Tung's theories and policies, both domestically and in the tangled jungle of the Soviet-Chinese Communist dispute.

Today's Red Chinese leaders have led the party for 30 years without a major purge in the style of the Stalin-era crackdowns in the Soviet Union.

The closest the Chinese came to such a cleanup was about 10 years ago, when groups led by Kao Kang and Kao Shu-si, high-ranking figures in the party, were accused of anti-party and anti-state activities. The Central Committee threw them out of the Politburo and evidently sent them to prison, because later reports said Kao Kang committed suicide.

Since then there have been minor "rectifications" lower in party rank. But the ruling hierarchy, now in its 60s and 70s, remained unscathed. Whatever purges there were failed to deliver any sizable jolt to the party apparatus.

THIS TIME, rectification propaganda leans heavily on Stalin's experience. It extols his purges of top leaders who opposed him. It implies the Chinese party should follow his example.

The most notable purge victim thus far is Yang Hsien-chen, a top theorstician, Politburo member, Central Committee member and director of the party's higher education. Charges against him indicated he advocated conciliation with Khrushchev and, at home, less harsh measures against elements outside the proletarian ranks.

Not long ago, Hsi Chung-hsun, vice premier and secretary-general of the State Council under Premier Chou En-lai, was removed for opposing Mao's policies. At 50 he was one of the younger elements in the Chinese party and government.

It is possible Chou En-lai, the suave and handsome traveling salesman for Chinese communism, has not been all - out for Mao's policies. He has been notably careful in his treatment of the battle with Moscow.

Chou himself may be safe from the purge. Indeed, he is believed now to be ailing. But the skids seem to be greased for a number of others who have not toed the new Mao line, recently published, that the Moscow-Peking split must be considered something that "cannot be mediated."

Constantine And Anne-Marie

We hope in due time King Constantine of Greece and his bride, the charming Queen Anne-Marie, may visit the United States so this country can add its heartfelt sentiments to their royal love match.

There are times when even a little-d democratic American feels twinges of envy about the fine old European custom of intermarriage among royal families. In fact, there are times when a little-d democratic American wishes it had been possible to break off fealty to the House of Hanover and its twisted scion George III without breaking off fealty to all royalty.

Royalty has its place when royalists are smart enough to do the job right.

It furnishes all of us in the common herd a focal point of loyalty above and beyond shifting and transitory allegiance to elected officials. When appointed in 1962, France had served for nine years as Portage County Common Pleas and Ravenna Municipal Judge.

Cases are now decided much more quickly than they were two years ago. In 1962 the average case remained on the docket approximately nine months. Last year this time was cut to a little more than six months.

At its current rate of disposition, all 132 cases now pending in the court, many of which are not yet eligible for hearing, will be disposed of in a little more than four months.

THE COURT'S skyrocketing docket load may astonish many lawyers as well as laymen in the area, but comes as no surprise to the three judges. They are quick to point out that portions of the district have, in the past few years, literally exploded in population.

Even in 1960 the 13-county district had a population of a million and a quarter persons. But with the rapid growth of its five northern counties (Lake, Geauga, Portage, Ashtabula and Trumbull) the million and a quarter figure is hopelessly out of date. The judges now estimate that district population well exceeds a half million persons per judge, far in excess of that in any other court of appeals district in the state.

Included in the local appellate district are almost a third of the 25 largest counties in the state, double the number of populous counties to be found in any of the other nine judicial districts.

Cases come to the court from no less than 25 common pleas judges, in addition to probate and municipal courts, while even the six-judge panel in Cleveland hears appeals from only 21.

BUT IT IS not merely exploding population which gives rise to increased appellate cases; the temper of the communities also has an influence.

Both Trumbull and Mahoning counties have had crime-busting prosecutors, and the vigorous law enforcement has resulted in a rash of appeals in criminal cases. In Youngstown a new policy of trying "bug slip" or numbers cases in the Common Pleas Court for heavy penalties has produced hitherto unknown appeals from this type of criminal conviction. But even this was dwarfed by the filing, last winter, of 34 cases involving convictions for contempt of the grand jury. In Trumbull County, a series of sewer payoff scandals had earlier produced an increase in criminal appeals there.

An even more important factor, in the opinion of the judges, is the recent high rate of turnover in the judiciary at both trial and appelate level. Lawyers tend to "try out" new trial judges by appealing their rulings. And they have been given ample opportunity recently, particularly in the fast-growing northern part of the district. Mahoning County had two new common pleas judges in 1961 and another in 1963. Ashtabula acquired two new common pleas judges in 1961 as well as a new probate judge. Portage County had one new judge in 1961 and another in 1962.

Geauga County changed judges in both its common pleas and probate courts in 1963 and added a new countywide Municipal Court in 1964. Lake added a judge in 1961 and is scheduled for two more new judges in 1965. Trumbull County, in addition to a new probate judge in 1961 and a new common pleas judge coming in 1965, has had many visiting judges sitting by assignment from other counties to relieve its heavy docket load.

These counties make up the 7th District Court of Appeals: Mahoning, Trumbull, Lake, Columbiana, Jefferson, Ashtabula, Portage, Belmont, Geauga, Carroll, Harrison, Monroe and Noble.

Final Split Looms For Moscow, Peking

By John M. Hightower

WASHINGTON

While the private thoughts of the Kremlin bosses are hard to come by, it is commonly accepted as a fact in official Washington that Nikita Khrushchev is completely fed up personally and politically with the Chinese Communists.

This insight into the mind of the decision-maker on the Soviet side reinforces the growing belief that the Soviet Union and Red China are now headed toward a final split in the fairly near future — probably mid-1965 at the latest.

Khrushchev took a personal snub from 29 Chinese Communist delegates at a World Youth Forum meeting in Moscow as recently as last Wednesday. It was not his first experience. Back in 1959, he suffered the cold shoulder treatment from the whole ruling group around Mao Tze-tung when the Soviet leader visited Peking after his meeting with President Dwight D. Eisenhower and his tour of the United States.

Such personal rebuffs, however much they may irritate Khrushchev, serve mainly to dramatize the kind of struggle which has developed between the two Communist giants over the last five years. For what has happened to Khrushchev personally in a few instances has happened many times in recent years to Soviet representatives at international meetings also attended by the Chinese Communists — meetings of women, students, doctors, African experts. The nature of the session seems almost irrelevent.

BEHIND THE contempt deliberately shown for Kremlin leadership of the world Communist movement is Red China's ambition to seize control from Moscow. Khrushchev decided sometime ago, according to diplomatic information here, that he could deal with Red Chinese rivalry more effectively if the Peking regime were outside the camp.

The conflict began to come into the open in 1959 which was a critical year in Communist development. It was not only the year Khrushchev visited Eisenhower but also the year the Chinese began to make clear their resistance to Khrushchev and his policy of peaceful coexistence by espousing a militant anti-American doctrine.

In that year too, according to later Chinese claims, Khrushchev refused to assist China to become a nuclear power.

The differences have now become so great and the rivalry so entrenched that several developments seem reasonably speculative.

A meeting of Communist party representatives from about a score of countries is to be held in Moscow in December to prepare for a Communist world congress in 1965.

THE RUSSIANS invited 25 other parties to the December conference but the Red Chinese and several others have refused to attend.. These events suggest the possibility of a full break between the Soviet and Chinese Communist parties any time from the start of the December meeting till the end of the projected 1965 conference.

A break on the ideological front, designed by Khrushchev to excommunicate the Chinese Reds as heretics, seems certain to raise tensions between the Russian and Chinese nations closer to the flash point. Border incidents along their long Asian Frontier and around pro-Soviet Outer Mongolia may increase.

As troubles with China grow it seems a safe bet that Khrushchev will try to improve relations with the West in order to secure his Western front while he is menaced from the East.

It is conceivable that China may also try to improve relations with the outside world and this in turn could have a profound bearing on such direct U.S. issues as the anti-Communist struggle in Southeast Asia.

Peking Purge In Offing?

By William L. Ryan

A Stalin-like purge — first such major housecleaning in its history — may be in store for the Chinese Communist party, with high-ranking members of the leadership among its targets.

The tone of Red Chinese pronouncements on the need for a "rectification" campaign in the party leads the reader to suspect that this time the purge will be reminiscent of Stalin's crackdown on the followers of Leon Trotsky and all others who disagreed with him.

THE OBJECT of this purge would be to remove from authority throughout the party any persons suspected of sympathizing with what Peking's propaganda calls "modern revisionists," meaning followers of Soviet Premier Khrushchev. Peking has made "modern revisionism" a cardinal crime for Chinese Communists.

Clearly, in high places in China, there is what the Communists call an "anti-party group" that disagrees with Mao Tze-Tung's theories and policies, both domestically and in the tangled jungle of the Soviet-Chinese Communist dispute.

Today's Red Chinese leaders have led the party for 30 years without a major purge in the style of the Stalin-era crackdowns in the Soviet Union.

The closest the Chinese came to such a cleanup was about 10 years ago, when groups led by Kao Kang and Kao Shu-si, high-ranking figures in the party, were accused of anti-party and anti-state activities. The Central Committee threw them out of the Politburo and evidently sent them to prison, because later reports said Kao Kang committed suicide.

Since then there have been minor "rectifications" lower in party rank. But the ruling hierarchy, now in its 60s and 70s, remained unscathed. Whatever purges there were failed to deliver any sizable jolt to the party apparatus.

THIS TIME, rectification propaganda leans heavily on Stalin's experience. It extols his purges of top leaders who opposed him. It implies the Chinese party should follow his example.

The most notable purge victim thus far is Yang Hsien-chen, a top theorstician, Politburo member, Central Committee member and director of the party's higher education. Charges against him indicated he advocated conciliation with Khrushchev and, at home, less harsh measures against elements outside the proletarian ranks.

Not long ago, Hsi Chung-hsun, vice premier and secretary-general of the State Council under Premier Chou En-lai, was removed for opposing Mao's policies. At 50 he was one of the younger elements in the Chinese party and government.

It is possible Chou En-lai, the suave and handsome traveling salesman for Chinese communism, has not been all - out for Mao's policies. He has been notably careful in his treatment of the battle with Moscow.

Chou himself may be safe from the purge. Indeed, he is believed now to be ailing. But the skids seem to be greased for a number of others who have not toed the new Mao line, recently published, that the Moscow-Peking split must be considered something that "cannot be mediated."

Officers Cite 2 Men In City Auto Mishaps

Two motorists were cited by police as an aftermath of two of the four weekend traffic mishaps in East Liverpool.

Two counts were filed against Elmer Boley, 47, of 773 Woodlawn Ave. as a result of a collision between his 1955 two-door sedan and the 1964 auto of Paul W. Keleman, 22, of Dayton Saturday at 4:24 p.m. at W. 3rd and Jackson Sts.

Keleman told officers he was driving west on W. 3rd when Boley, headed east, made a left turn in front of him. Keleman said he attempted to halt, but his car skidded on wet pavement.

Boley told officers he was making a left turn onto Jackson St. when Keleman hit his auto. There was damage to the right front of Keleman's car and the entire right side of Boley's auto.

Boley was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way and operating a car without a driver's license.

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff ordered a bench warrant for Boley's arrest when he failed to appear for a hearing this morning.

Charges of improper passing were filed against Larry G. Adkins, 25, of Glendale Rd., Newell, after a mishap Saturday a 7:12 p.m. on W. 8th St. that involved his 1960 four-door sedan and another 1960 auto operated by William C. Young, 58, of Grimms Bridge Rd.

Both autos were westbound when Adkins pulled out to pass Young and hit the left rear fender of Young's car, police said. A fender was damaged on each car.

Police said two women were injured in the mishap — Mrs. Gladys Young, 56, a passenger in her husband's car, and Violet Farnsworth, 53, of 211 W. 7th St., also a passenger in Young's car.

Mrs. Young and Mrs. Farnsworth both were treated at City Hospital for contusions of the lower back.

Patrolman L. E. Richard investigated.

Adkins is scheduled for a hearing Tuesday morning in Municipal Court.

Two Newell autos were damaged in a collision Sunday at 3:24 a.m. on an entrance ramp of the Freeway, officers said.

The collision involved a halted 1960 two-door sedan driven by Terry W. Robinson, 18, of 1018 Washington St., Newell, and a 1962 two-door operated by Larry W. Dunlevy, 20, of 36 1st St., Newell, officers said.

Robinson told police he was headed up the eastbound ramp onto the Freeway when he halted for an oncoming car. His car was hit from behind by Dunlevy's auto, he said.

There was damage to the rear of Robinson's car and the front of Dunlevy's vehicle, police said.

A minor mishap Saturday at 12:41 p.m. in Rural Ln. 25 feet west of Dresden Ave. damaged a 1958 model car driven by Robert Lamp, 55, of Shadyside Ave. and a parked 1960 model truck owned by James Maloney, 1040 Edgewood Ave., police said.

Lamp told officers he was making a turn off Dresden when his car hit the truck, which was parked in the alley.

Pennsylvania Man Jailed In Drunk Driving Charge

A Pennsylvanian who is visiting relatives here was fined and jailed today in Municipal Court after pleading guilty to a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Lloyd R. Dunn of Atlantic (Crawford County) was fined $200 and costs and given five days in jail by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, who said the motorist's license will be forwarded to the Bureau of Motor Vehicles in Harrisburg.

Dunn was arrested Saturday at 9:17 p.m. on Pennsylvania Ave., police said.

Sentencing of Charles T. Landy, 22, of Valley Ave., on a reckless driving charge was continued until Oct. 7.

Judge Chertoff indicated that if Landy has made "substantial progress" in paying for damages to a Cincinnati woman's auto it will be taken into consideration when he is sentenced.

Landy was cited early Saturday after his auto struck a parked car owned by Mary Rakestraw of Cincinnati at Oakland and Park Aves. Landy, who pleaded no contest, admitted to the court he had been drinking.

Judge Chertoff was told the cost of repair of the Rakestraw auto has been estimated at $231.

John S. Long, 538½ Elizabeth St., was fined $5 and costs on a charge of crashing a traffic signal at Harvey Ave. and Putnam St. Sunday night.

Robert Lee Smith, 806 Dewey Ave., drew a fine of $10 and costs when he pleaded guilty to speeding 40 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone Saturday night on Pennsylvania Ave.

Thomas T. Troup of Industry R.D. 1 forfeited a $57.50 bond on a reckless driving charge. He was cited Saturday afternoon at Pennsylvania Ave. and Boyce St., police said.

A hearing is scheduled Friday for Charles E. Glover Jr. of 9th Ave., LaCroft, who pleaded innocent today to a charge of crashing a traffic signal at W. 8th and Lisbon Sts. He was cited Friday by the State Highway Patrol.

Glen Albert Smith, 1510 Commerce St., and Glenn Clifford Hall, 1908 Nevada St., both of Wellsville, also are due hearings Friday on patrol charges.

Smith is accused of driving 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the East Liverpool-Wellsville Rd. on Sept. 10.

Hall was cited Sunday night, also on Route 7, for driving without a taillight on his truck.

Hearings are set for Tuesday for Allan Clifford Cunningham, 614 Water St., Salineville; Marlene Sell, 1927 Allison St., and Charles Taylor of Waterford Park.

Taylor posted bonds of $75 on charges of driving east on W. 5th St. late Saturday afternoon and driving without an operator's license.

Cunningham was cited Sunday night for driving 65 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 7. The city woman was cited Thursday afternoon for driving without an operator's permit in a patrol traffic check on Route 7.

Art Schmitt, 1043 Midland Ave., Midland, and Daniel Clyde Copestick Jr. of Wellsville are to appear Wednesday on speeding charges. Schmitt posted a $32.50 bond after he was cited Thursday afternoon for speeding 55 miles an hour in a 35-mlie zone on W. 8th St.

Copestick was cited Wednesday on Route 7 by the patrol for speeding 70 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone.

Robert Helman of East Liverpool is scheduled to appear Sept. 30 on a charge of driving an unsafe vehicle. He was cited at 11 a.m. Thursday on Route 7.

Driver's Hearing Set

SALINEVILLE—William Russell Grodhaus of Wellsville R. D. 1 was cited on a charge of reckless operation Saturday afternoon. He will receive a hearing Thursday night before Mayor Stanley Fitch.

He was taken to the hospital at 7:20 p.m. and later transferred to Pittsburgh.

Three other persons were treated Sunday.

John R. Cunningham, 18, of 720 Minerva St. and Anthony Yanni, 23, of 309 Vine St. were treated after bumping heads while playing football at Thompson Park. Cunningham had a laceration of the right eyebrow and Yanni had a laceration of the back of the head.

Scott Shaw, 2, son of James Shaw, 1819 Michigan Ave., suffered a cut on the forehead when he tripped against a coffee table at home.

Goldwater Seen As Foe Of REA, Speaker Claims

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "Millions of rural people" will not vote for Sen. Barry Goldwater because he would destroy their rural electric programs, a convention speaker said today.

Clyde T. Ellis, general manager of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, said he based his view on Goldwater's voting record.

Ellis, of Washington, said the Republican presidential candidate had voted unfavorably on legislation affecting rural electrification 92 per cent of the time.

Ellis also attacked the voting record in the House of Rep. William E. Miller of New York, the GOP vice presidential nominee.

He said Miller had voted wrong 88 per cent of the time.

Ellis told the convention that the Democratic candidates, however, had good records.

"No man in public life had a prouder rural electrification record," Ellis said, than President Johnson. He said Johnson's record was 87 per cent favorable during his time in both the House and Senate.

Ellis termed Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the Democratic vice presidential candidate "powerful friend" of rural people.

In Seoul Area Attack Red Agents Wound 4

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Four unidentified men — believed North Korean Communist agents — opened fire and wounded four South Korean soldiers 25 miles north of Seoul, the army said today.

The shooting occurred Saturday night south of the demilitarized zone. A search of the area has turned up only expended rounds of Russian ammunition, the army said.

Guest Speaks For Fairview PTA Meeting

"SOS-Save Our Speech" was the topic presented by Donald Hayduk, Beaver County speech therapist, at the first meeting of the season for the Fairview Parent - Teacher Association Thursday night in the school in Ohioville.

What parents can do to help their children even before age 2 was the theme of his talk, stressing vocabularly building with nursery rhymes. A question and answer period followed.

Judge Chertoff indicated that if Landy has made "substantial progress" in paying for damages to a Cincinnati woman's auto it will be taken into consideration when he is sentenced.

Landy was cited early Saturday after his auto struck a parked car owned by Mary Rakestraw of Cincinnati at Oakland and Park Aves. Landy, who pleaded no contest, admitted to the court he had been drinking.

Judge Chertoff was told the cost of repair of the Rakestraw auto has been estimated at $231.

Hall was cited Sunday night, also on Route 7, for driving without a taillight on his truck.

Hearings are set for Tuesday for Allan Clifford Cunningham, 614 Water St., Salineville; Marlene Sell, 1927 Allison St., and Charles Taylor of Waterford Park.

Goldwater Seen As Foe Of REA, Speaker Claims

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "Millions of rural people" will not vote for Sen. Barry Goldwater because he would destroy their rural electric programs, a convention speaker said today.

Clyde T. Ellis, general manager of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, said he based his view on Goldwater's voting record.

Ellis, of Washington, said the Republican presidential candidate had voted unfavorably on legislation affecting rural electrification 92 per cent of the time.

Ellis also attacked the voting record in the House of Rep. William E. Miller of New York, the GOP vice presidential nominee.

He said Miller had voted wrong 88 per cent of the time.

Ellis told the convention that the Democratic candidates, however, had good records.

"No man in public life had a prouder rural electrification record," Ellis said, than President Johnson. He said Johnson's record was 87 per cent favorable during his time in both the House and Senate.

Ellis termed Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the Democratic vice presidential candidate "powerful friend" of rural people.

Car Hits Embankment

2 Hurt Seriously In District Crash

Four persons were injured, two seriously, and four children escaped injury when the car in which they were riding slid into an embankment Sunday at 3:50 a. m. on Route 30 between Apples Corners and Rock Camp.

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon said the car driven by Luther E. Ball, 42, of Cleveland went off the east side of the highway, struck a road marker and then slid up the embankment sideways.

Ball, who is in "poor" condition today at City Hospital, was thrown from the car, officers said. He suffered contusions of the forehead and chest and a possible fractured skull.

—:—

HIS DAUGHTER, Nancy Ann Ball, 16, also is in "poor" condition with facial contusions and a possible fractured skull.

Miss Mary Hupp II, 12, of Route 7, Steubenville, a passenger, is in "fair" condition with contusions of the right shoulder, face and upper lip and a possible fractured shoulder.

Her mother, Mrs. Mary Hupp, had abrasions of the right elbow and contusions of both inner arms.

Four other Hupp children ranging in age from 2 to 6 escaped injury, officers said.

—:—

THE PATROL investigated nine other accidents over the weekend, with three in the northern section of the county.

Cars driven by Charles Harold Johnson, 48, of Hanoverton and Norman Stroup, 72, of Lisbon R. D. 4 were involved in a crash Sunday at 9:45 a. m. on County Rd. 407 just over three miles north of Route 518.

Stroup pulled from a private driveway into the path of the Johnson car. Stroup was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way and driving without an operator's permit.

A car driven by Reginald Oakes, 44, of Canton was hit in the rear by another driven by Jeffrey Dorrance, 18, of 324 E. Chestnut St., Lisbon, Sunday at 12:42 p. m. on Route 30 seven-tenths a mile west of Lisbon.

—:—

OAKES HAD slowed for traffic, officers said. Dorrance was cited for speed in excess of road and weather conditions.

A small farm truck driven by Benny Brooks Woodburn, 17, of Lisbon R. D. 4 hit a guardrail along Route 30 about seven-tenths of a mile west of Lisbon Sunday noon.

Officers said Woodburn came over a hillcrest just as a car driven by Glenn Watkins, 50, of Lisbon R. D. 4 pulled from a driveway.

Woodburn slammed on his brakes, skidded and went into the guardrail. He was cited to Juvenile Court.

—:—

LEO FALKNER, 21, of the Parkhouse Hotel, Columbiana, wrecked his car Saturday at 12:30 p. m. while attempting to elude a police constable on Route 421 just over two miles east of Columbiana.

Officers said he was headed east when he went off the south side of the highway. The car traveled 165 feet and struck a mailbox before returning to the road. It then went off the other side and crashed in a ditch.

The patrol said Falkner told the investigating officer he was eluding a police constable. He was arrested for reckless operation.

—:—

TWO CLEVELAND men escaped injury by landing in soft mud when thrown from a motorcycle Saturday at 11 p. m. on Route 154 a mile and a half east of Lisbon.

The operator was Jimmy Deetz of Cleveland. His passenger was Jerry Wallace of Garfield Heights. The cycle skidded on a curve and went off the left side.

The two were dumped into soft mud in the ditch, officers said. Deetz was cited for speed in excess of road and weather conditions.

Wanda L. Greenwood, 46, of 1866 Idaho Ave. was cited for speed in excess of road and weather conditions after a one-car crash Saturday at 8 a. m. on Route 267 almost a mile south of Route 30.

The car was headed upgrade when she lost control on the wet pavement, officers said. It went off the right side, up an embankment, back down and crossed over, ending in a ditch against a power pole on the left side. Minor damage resulted, the patrol reported.

$25 Fine Suspended In Jobless Pay Fraud

Accused of collecting unemployment benefits illegally, a Calcutta area man was given a suspended $25 fine and ordered to pay court costs when arraigned this morning before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

The penalty was handed Clarence Edwin Hickenbottom of the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd. on an affidavit filed by Donald L. Schindler of Columbus, an investigator for the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation.

The affidavit charged that Hickenbottom collected benefits in February fraudulently by false certification or misrepresentation. Hickenbottom originally had asked a continuance to obtain a lawyer, but returned to court later and was handed the suspended fine and costs.

Car Hits Embankment

2 Hurt Seriously In District Crash

Four persons were injured, two seriously, and four children escaped injury when the car in which they were riding slid into an embankment Sunday at 3:50 a. m. on Route 30 between Apples Corners and Rock Camp.

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon said the car driven by Luther E. Ball, 42, of Cleveland went off the east side of the highway, struck a road marker and then slid up the embankment sideways.

Ball, who is in "poor" condition today at City Hospital, was thrown from the car, officers said. He suffered contusions of the forehead and chest and a possible fractured skull.

—:—

HIS DAUGHTER, Nancy Ann Ball, 16, also is in "poor" condition with facial contusions and a possible fractured skull.

Miss Mary Hupp II, 12, of Route 7, Steubenville, a passenger, is in "fair" condition with contusions of the right shoulder, face and upper lip and a possible fractured shoulder.

Her mother, Mrs. Mary Hupp, had abrasions of the right elbow and contusions of both inner arms.

Four other Hupp children ranging in age from 2 to 6 escaped injury, officers said.

—:—

THE PATROL investigated nine other accidents over the weekend, with three in the northern section of the county.

Cars driven by Charles Harold Johnson, 48, of Hanoverton and Norman Stroup, 72, of Lisbon R. D. 4 were involved in a crash Sunday at 9:45 a. m. on County Rd. 407 just over three miles north of Route 518.

Stroup pulled from a private driveway into the path of the Johnson car. Stroup was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way and driving without an operator's permit.

A car driven by Reginald Oakes, 44, of Canton was hit in the rear by another driven by Jeffrey Dorrance, 18, of 324 E. Chestnut St., Lisbon, Sunday at 12:42 p. m. on Route 30 seven-tenths a mile west of Lisbon.

—:—

OAKES HAD slowed for traffic, officers said. Dorrance was cited for speed in excess of road and weather conditions.

A small farm truck driven by Benny Brooks Woodburn, 17, of Lisbon R. D. 4 hit a guardrail along Route 30 about seven-tenths of a mile west of Lisbon Sunday noon.

Officers said Woodburn came over a hillcrest just as a car driven by Glenn Watkins, 50, of Lisbon R. D. 4 pulled from a driveway.

Woodburn slammed on his brakes, skidded and went into the guardrail. He was cited to Juvenile Court.

—:—

LEO FALKNER, 21, of the Parkhouse Hotel, Columbiana, wrecked his car Saturday at 12:30 p. m. while attempting to elude a police constable on Route 421 just over two miles east of Columbiana.

Officers said he was headed east when he went off the south side of the highway. The car traveled 165 feet and struck a mailbox before returning to the road. It then went off the other side and crashed in a ditch.

The patrol said Falkner told the investigating officer he was eluding a police constable. He was arrested for reckless operation.

—:—

TWO CLEVELAND men escaped injury by landing in soft mud when thrown from a motorcycle Saturday at 11 p. m. on Route 154 a mile and a half east of Lisbon.

The operator was Jimmy Deetz of Cleveland. His passenger was Jerry Wallace of Garfield Heights. The cycle skidded on a curve and went off the left side.

The two were dumped into soft mud in the ditch, officers said. Deetz was cited for speed in excess of road and weather conditions.

Wanda L. Greenwood, 46, of 1866 Idaho Ave. was cited for speed in excess of road and weather conditions after a one-car crash Saturday at 8 a. m. on Route 267 almost a mile south of Route 30.

The car was headed upgrade when she lost control on the wet pavement, officers said. It went off the right side, up an embankment, back down and crossed over, ending in a ditch against a power pole on the left side. Minor damage resulted, the patrol reported.

15th Anniversary Marked By Colloquium Study Unit

The 15th anniversary of the Colloquium Study Club was observed at the opening fall session Thursday night at the Mary Patterson Memorial.

Mrs. Glenn Roberts presented "A Tribute to Past Presidents" with eight of the 14 former officers participating in "An Album of Memories."

Mrs. Edward Daily, charter president, spoke on the purpose and adopted aims at the initial meeting in 1949.

In recalling the Hawaiian luau the group enjoyed at the home of Mrs. Edwin L. Bayley of Park Blvd., Mrs. Edward Sanford presented a dance in typical island attire.

Mrs. John Golden of Columbiana sang "Summertime," accompanied on the electric guitar by her son, John. She also sang "Day Dreamer" composed by him and which was recorded and will be released soon.

Other past presidents who participated were Mrs. Earl Applegate, Mrs. Cecil Pugh, Mrs. Andrew Myers Jr., Mrs. Chester Parsons and Mrs. Harry McHenry.

A telegram was read from Mrs. Joseph Weston, a past president now residing in Florida.

A tribute was given to Mrs. Charles E. Goodman, unable to attend because of illness, for literary efforts extended the club. Mrs. Sanford read her poem, "Club of Hearts," written for the group.

For the closing, Mrs. Daily related the past service projects and stressed a re-evaluation of aims.

Mrs. G. Richard Jones, president, distributed synopses of recommended books. Mrs. Pugh and Mrs. Parsons were named to a committee to arrange a rummage sale.

Mrs. Roberts spoke on the theme for the ensuing year, "The City of Hills and Kilns," and distributed program booklets.

Refreshments were served 20 by Mrs. Thomas Parsons, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Jones, Mrs. McHenry and Mrs. Frank Miller, co-hostesses.

The buffet table, covered with a lace cloth, featured a centerpiece of fall flowers flanked by purple tapers. Mrs. Daily poured.

Next session will be Oct. 15 when the group will tour the Crucible Steel Co. after dinner in the management diningroom of the Midland Works, going by chartered bus.

Chicory, a favorite ingredient of tossed salads and coffee blends, hitchhiked to the United States. Horticulturists believe seeds of the European wild flower came in earthen ballast on ships. It now grows from Canada to the Carolinas and westward to Nebraska.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Vic Can Match Dressing Rooms With Anyone

If rated by the opulence of his dressing room, actor Vic Morrow of "Combat" has about as good a standing in the Hollywood hierarchy as anyone. It's a two-room apartment on the MGM lot, where his TV series is filmed.

Hal Humphrey

Vic refers to the decor as "early decadence." Actually it's more "Arabian Nights" (circa Maria Montez). The rococo furniture and Casbah bric-a-brac give one the impression the whole melange was lifted from an old MGM set.

Vic seems happy with it. The dressing room and a raise were forthcoming recently, after Vic went AWOL a few days.

-:-

LAST YEAR Vince ("Ben Casey") Edwards put the bite on boss Bing Crosby for a big raise and a newly built dressing room estimated to cost $30,000. It, too, is splashed heavily with red, gold and black paint — colors which seem to match the moods of both Vince and Vic.

As Vic comes in from MGM's battle - scarred backlot and sprawls on one of his gondola-shaped divans, he agrees with himself that war is hell even when you're acting.

"Sorry, but they seem to find I'm more attractive dirty," says Vic, apologizing for his mud-caked face. "When! You know the one trouble with working in a war series? You can't sleep on the set because of the noise.

-:-

"THERE'S ALWAYS something going off — a grenade, sub-machine guns. We blow off a lot of stuff in a day. But do you know we've had no serious injuries in the two years we've been at this? That's pretty lucky. These stunt guys have even had to jump out of three-story windows."

Most of this "Combat" action Vic describes takes place on either the No. 2 or No. 3 backlot near the main MGM studios.

The streets on these lots have been captured by one contingent of MGM troops or another so often in movies and two years of "Combat" that the viewing public can spot where enemy snipers will appear before the company commanders can.

-:-

VIC THINKS the funniest thing he's seen while in action with "Combat" was the day a director got upset over what he felt was another actor's lack of ability at playing the part of a Nazi officer.

"Finally," says Vic, "this actor — his name is Paul Bush— drew himself up before the director and, with amazing self-control, said, 'I was an officer with Rommel in Africa.' The director had no more to say."

Somebody back at the Pentagon must approve every "Combat" script, and when it comes to portraying Nazis, the policy is to soft-pedal any tendency to make them look too bestial or sadistic — unless the director promotes the Nazi soldier into the SS.

-:-

VIC ALSO is amused over the transformation taking place in the Army's lieutenant colonel who is assigned to "Combat" as a technical adviser.

"He was very Army when we first got him," Vic reports, "but you should hear him now. I called to him the other day as he was rushing off the set. He yelled back, 'Sorry, baby, can't stop now, but I saw the dailies and they were great, just great!'

"I can remember when he thought dailies were newspapers, instead of the film shot each day. When I kid him about the change in his dialogue, his answer is, 'Crazy, Suzie, crazy!' That's what a few months in Hollywood does to the Army," Vic concludes.

As we sat in the Sheik - of-Araby surroundings of Vic's new dressing room apartment, it was evident that Hollywood also must have worked some magic on a fellow named Morrow, who used to drive a New York City hack by day and study at Actors Workshop by night.

Socialist Vote Shows Decrease In Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) —Sweden's Social Democratic party has won another term in office, but the party's percentage of the vote dropped slightly.

Unofficial tabulations today indicated Premier Tage Erlander's Social Democrats won 117 of 233 seats in the lower house of Parliament. This was a gain of three and one more than an absolute majority.

The party's percentage of the vote dropped to 47.9 from 48.4 in the 1960 general election. The party has dominated Swedish politics since 1932, and Erlander has been premier since 1946.

The Conservative party lost 11 of its 39 seats and the Communists increased their seats from 5 to 8.

Keep In Trim

Take Off That 'Turkey' Now

Take stock. Step on the scales. How many pounds did you gain while on vacation? An ounce of prevention at this season may be worth an 18 pound turkey! One homemaker has maintained her ideal weight for years by the simple expedient of promptly taking off the newly added vacation pounds. How did the turkey get into this story? She learned the hard way:

Ida Jean Kain

"One summer on a three-week trip I gained eight pounds. I was already a good 10 pounds over my best weight, and this brought me to 163 pounds. I'm 5' 7". What with one thing and another, I put off the diet with the thought that 'next week I'll diet.'

"Came Thanksgiving. As I was toting a big turkey to the car it suddenly dawned on me that the 18-pound turkey I was carrying represented the amount of my excess weight load. That did it! I was determined to get that turkey off my back.

—:—

"I'M WRITING this so as to encourage your other readers to take off those newly added vacation pounds before they get used to them. Now each year after vacation I buckle right down to calorie counting and keep to 1,200 a day. I stay with it until the pointer no longer wavers past the 145 pound mark. I have found this plan really works, whereas crash diets do not. For eight years I have kept my weight at 145 pounds and wear size 14 and 16. Please send me a new calorie chart in the enclosed, stamped self-addressed envelope. My old chart is in shreds," she concluded.

The chart has been sent. Friends, take a tip from this homemaker. Curb that "growing" appetite now. During vacation, particularly on the American plan, it's natural to indulge in rich, fattening fare.

The trouble is. . .on returning to routine you find it takes a bit more food to satisfy your hunger. If you continue to eat the little extra food you will establish your weight at a new high. It's a mistake to be complacent about added pounds. They tend to harden on.

—:—

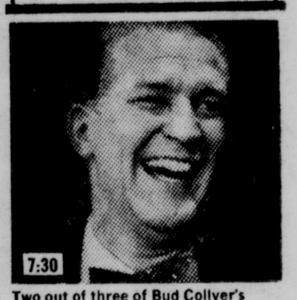

PLAN MEALS that are high in satiety. Make protein the backbone of each meal, for the body takes several hours to convert half the protein into gycogen. What this means in terms of hunger control is that the meal stays by you longer.

Eat three balanced meals, but skip rich desserts. At 4 in the afternoon, have a piece of cheese and a cup of tea, or a glass of buttermilk or skim milk. You need a boost at that hour.

Curb your appetite for two weeks, and you will have it under control. Fail to curb appetite now. . .and it will grow.

Send stamped, self-addressed, long envelope for Revised Calorie Chart. Address request to Ida Jean Kain, care of The Review. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Vic Can Match Dressing Rooms With Anyone

If rated by the opulence of his dressing room, actor Vic Morrow of "Combat" has about as good a standing in the Hollywood hierarchy as anyone. It's a two-room apartment on the MGM lot, where his TV series is filmed.

Hal Humphrey

Vic refers to the decor as "early decadence." Actually it's more "Arabian Nights" (circa Maria Montez). The rococo furniture and Casbah bric-a-brac give one the impression the whole melange was lifted from an old MGM set.

Vic seems happy with it. The dressing room and a raise were forthcoming recently, after Vic went AWOL a few days.

-:-

LAST YEAR Vince ("Ben Casey") Edwards put the bite on boss Bing Crosby for a big raise and a newly built dressing room estimated to cost $30,000. It, too, is splashed heavily with red, gold and black paint — colors which seem to match the moods of both Vince and Vic.

As Vic comes in from MGM's battle - scarred backlot and sprawls on one of his gondola-shaped divans, he agrees with himself that war is hell even when you're acting.

"Sorry, but they seem to find I'm more attractive dirty," says Vic, apologizing for his mud-caked face. "When! You know the one trouble with working in a war series? You can't sleep on the set because of the noise.

-:-

"THERE'S ALWAYS something going off — a grenade, sub-machine guns. We blow off a lot of stuff in a day. But do you know we've had no serious injuries in the two years we've been at this? That's pretty lucky. These stunt guys have even had to jump out of three-story windows."

Most of this "Combat" action Vic describes takes place on either the No. 2 or No. 3 backlot near the main MGM studios.

The streets on these lots have been captured by one contingent of MGM troops or another so often in movies and two years of "Combat" that the viewing public can spot where enemy snipers will appear before the company commanders can.

-:-

VIC THINKS the funniest thing he's seen while in action with "Combat" was the day a director got upset over what he felt was another actor's lack of ability at playing the part of a Nazi officer.

"Finally," says Vic, "this actor — his name is Paul Bush — drew himself up before the director and, with amazing self-control, said, 'I was an officer with Rommel in Africa.' The director had no more to say."

Somebody back at the Pentagon must approve every "Combat" script, and when it comes to portraying Nazis, the policy is to soft-pedal any tendency to make them look too bestial or sadistic — unless the director promotes the Nazi soldier into the SS.

-:-

VIC ALSO is amused over the transformation taking place in the Army's lieutenant colonel who is assigned to "Combat" as a technical adviser.

"He was very Army when we first got him," Vic reports, "but you should hear him now. I called to him the other day as he was rushing off the set. He yelled back, 'Sorry, baby, can't stop now, but I saw the dailies and they were great, just great!'

"I can remember when he thought dailies were newspapers, instead of the film shot each day. When I kid him about the change in his dialogue, his answer is, 'Crazy, Suzie, crazy!' That's what a few months in Hollywood does to the Army," Vic concludes.

As we sat in the Sheik - of-Araby surroundings of Vic's new dressing room apartment, it was evident that Hollywood also must have worked some magic on a fellow named Morrow, who used to drive a New York City hack by day and study at Actors Workshop by night.

Socialist Vote Shows Decrease In Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) —Sweden's Social Democratic party has won another term in office, but the party's percentage of the vote dropped slightly.

Unofficial tabulations today indicated Premier Tage Erlander's Social Democrats won 117 of 233 seats in the lower house of Parliament. This was a gain of three and one more than an absolute majority.

The party's percentage of the vote dropped to 47.9 from 48.4 in the 1960 general election. The party has dominated Swedish politics since 1932, and Erlander has been premier since 1946.

The Conservative party lost 11 of its 39 seats and the Communists increased their seats from 5 to 8.

Minister To Quit Glenmoor Pulpit For New Charge

The congregation of the Glenmoor United Presbyterian Church will meet following services Sunday morning, Oct. 11, to accept the resignation of the Rev. James Fyfe Donald, minister there for more than three years.

Rev. Donald is scheduled to become assistant minister of the Northmont United Presbyterian Church near Pittsburgh, effective Nov. 1. At the same congregational meeting, two elders will be elected to fill unexpired terms.

Rev. Donald was called to the pulpit of the Glenmoor Church in July 1961, succeeding the Rev. Robert Tanguy, who left to become minister of the church at Jersey Shore, Pa.

For 12 years prior to coming to Glenmoor, Rev. Donald was minister of the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church at Toronto, Canada. He was moderator of the Presbytery of East Toronto, Ont., for several years and served two years as chairman of the Toronto Religious Education Council. He was a chaplain with the armed forces in World War II, serving in the European Theater.

Al Schrecengost of Youngstown, North East Zone president, was guest speaker at the banquet.

Charles Laughley of Chester sang several selections, with Mrs. Nancy Clark of Irondale at the piano.

Stanley Krawiec, president, presided.

Women of the auxiliary served the banquet.

Take Off That 'Turkey' Now

Take stock. Step on the scales. How many pounds did you gain while on vacation? An ounce of prevention at this season may be worth an 18 pound turkey! One homemaker has maintained her ideal weight for years by the simple expedient of promptly taking off the newly added vacation pounds. How did the turkey get into this story? She learned the hard way:

Ida Jean Kain

"One summer on a three-week trip I gained eight pounds. I was already a good 10 pounds over my best weight, and this brought me to 163 pounds. I'm 5' 7". What with one thing and another, I put off the diet with the thought that 'next week I'll diet.'

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: September always comes and children still bemoan the fact that summer was too short. I try to add a bit of diversion to their schooling by putting little clippings into their sandwich bags. Cartoons quotations, jokes, articles pertaining to their particular interest.

And . . . what to do with those students who feel that an apple is just too much at lunch time? Give them only half an apple in their lunch. . . .

These apples, when cut in half and wrapped in plastic also are a blessing to the youngsters who must wear braces on their teeth! No more sore mouths from trying to bite into a round item.

JO WEATHERFORD.

-:-

DEAR FOLKS: If you have a pencil sharpener which doesn't sharpen the pencil to a sharp point, empty it and while the cover is off, try putting a little oil over the blades (as close to the handle as possible), then turn the handle several times to distribute the oil evenly over the blades.

If it still doesn't work properly, let me tell you what I did:

I inserted the point of an ice pick (where you usually put in the pencil) then turned the pencil sharpener hanslowly once around.

By inserting this ice pick where the pencil is supposed to go, you will jar loose the lead from another pencil which has gotten stuck in the sharpener.

Then clean any packed lead from the crevices with the point of the ice pick and put a few drops of oil on the blades.

Don't ever throw away a pencil sharpener until you have tried these tricks. They work.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I used your cute idea of trimming a blouse with material cut from a pair of slacks or pedal pushers when making shorts out of them. Darling matched outfits were the result.

Then I decided to try your idea in reverse.

I bought a blouse with roll-up sleeves, cut the sleeves to a short-length and hemmed them.

I use the cut-off pieces of the blouse to put a narrow cuff or an appliqued design or to trim a pocket on my slacks.

You can baste the trim on the slacks to see how you want it before stitching it on permanently.

PHYLLIS DUNCAN.

DEAR HELOISE: When I iron, it seems the house gets very untidy and messy. The children usually amuse themselves but leave the toys all over.

If you put all the clothes away . . . it still doesn't look as though you've done a thing all day!

So here's what I do:

I hang the clothes I have finished over the door where they can be seen by anyone who comes in and they'll understand why my house is the way it is!

Also, I reserve a few shirts for my day out . . . when I have been gadding all day long.

I rush home and put these freshly ironed (He thinks) shirts in the closet for my husband. Nothing makes a husband madder than only one shirt in the closet so he has no choice.

Please don't use my name as HE isn't up to all my tricks yet!

A READER

-:-

DEAR HELOISE: We are always getting shocks from our rugs when touching the light switch, etc.

The best solution I've found is to go barefoot as much as possible.

To clear myself of static electricity before touching the baby, I touch a piece of metal, such as a radiator or pipe. It does sting a little but it prevents a shock to the baby.

It's so uncomfortable to know you are about to be sizzled!

ANDREWS.

'Sitting' Advocated For Punishment

During the many years in which I have been writing this column, I've been trying to induce parents of young children to employ chair - sitting as a desirable means of necessary punishment. Instead of a chair, it could be a box or a low step on the stairs. There is no virtue in its being an uncomfortable seat. The purpose is to provide definite restraint of the youngster.

Dr. Garry Myers

The young child could be sent to his own room instead, but he might find self - amusement there, which could be destructive. Having him sit for a definite period as measured by the clock — doing nothing, unamused (no radio, TV, toys or reading matter) and where you can see him—is desirable. For the tot from two to three, I recommend fifteen minutes; for the youngster four or five, 20 minutes; for the child from six to ten, 30 minutes.

—:—

THE CHILD should know when he is assigned to the chair the exact time he must stay there. It is well to have a clock within his view to show him, if over three or four, where the long hand of the clock will be when he may get down. Soon the child will be glad to oblige you by informing you when the time is up. Many parents say their children have thus learned to tell time before the age of five or six.

Why have a definite, clock-measured period? If you tell the youngster, "Sit there till I let you get down," you invite him to tease and cry and work on you to release him. He may then discover that how long he must stay will depend on how you feel. But the clock never gets nervous, never gets a headache, never gets mad; tears and pleadings make no difference to it; it ticks on without feeling. It suggests no doubt, but typifies inevitability.

Suppose he doesn't go to the chair when you tell him to. Pick him up and put him there. You need not hold him or tie him in the chair. If he slides down from it, spank him soundly. This procedure is easy if you begin chair - sitting when he begins to walk and keep at it consistently. After a few such "dares" he'll be "cured" permanently; never again will he venture to get down too soon.

REMAIN where you can see him till you are sure he will stay there. Soon you can go about your work, returning to check occasionally. If, when you do, you find him out of the chair, make him painfully sorry — with your hand, not your tongue. Indeed, chair-sitting is a good tongue-saver.

If, while in the chair, the youngster wishes to talk to you, respond normally to him, but refuse to talk about his punishment or offense. Just let him learn from experience that his freedom to go about has been taken away till the end of the announced period. At the end of the period, let him get down. Don't ask him to promise not to repeat the offense. Make it a closed book.

Why not have a child stand at a certain place, or "in the corner," instead of sitting on a chair? It's harder to enforce.

As soon as you are able to operate chair - sitting effectively, you can abandon spanking. A baby - sitter can employ it safely. If, at school, the teacher wishes to have this child (when disobedient) sit apart from his class, he will have been prepared to do so. Also this child may be well prepared — at 8, 10 or 12 — to profit from being sent to his room for a definite period for punishment.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: September always comes and children still bemoan the fact that summer was too short. I try to add a bit of diversion to their schooling by putting little clippings into their sandwich bags. Cartoons quotations, jokes, articles pertaining to their particular interest.

And . . . what to do with those students who feel that an apple is just too much at lunch time? Give them only half an apple in their lunch. . . .

These apples, when cut in half and wrapped in plastic also are a blessing to the youngsters who must wear braces on their teeth! No more sore mouths from trying to bite into a round item.

JO WEATHERFORD.

-:-

DEAR FOLKS: If you have a pencil sharpener which doesn't sharpen the pencil to a sharp point, empty it and while the cover is off, try putting a little oil over the blades (as close to the handle as possible), then turn the handle several times to distribute the oil evenly over the blades.

If it still doesn't work properly, let me tell you what I did:

I inserted the point of an ice pick (where you usually put in the pencil) then turned the pencil sharpener hanslowly once around.

By inserting this ice pick where the pencil is supposed to go, you will jar loose the lead from another pencil which has gotten stuck in the sharpener.

Then clean any packed lead from the crevices with the point of the ice pick and put a few drops of oil on the blades.

Don't ever throw away a pencil sharpener until you have tried these tricks. They work.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I used your cute idea of trimming a blouse with material cut from a pair of slacks or pedal pushers when making shorts out of them. Darling matched outfits were the result.

Then I decided to try your idea in reverse.

I bought a blouse with roll-up sleeves, cut the sleeves to a short-length and hemmed them.

I use the cut-off pieces of the blouse to put a narrow cuff or an appliqued design or to trim a pocket on my slacks.

You can baste the trim on the slacks to see how you want it before stitching it on permanently.

PHYLLIS DUNCAN.

DEAR HELOISE: When I iron, it seems the house gets very untidy and messy. The children usually amuse themselves but leave the toys all over.

If you put all the clothes away . . . it still doesn't look as though you've done a thing all day!

So here's what I do:

I hang the clothes I have finished over the door where they can be seen by anyone who comes in and they'll understand why my house is the way it is!

Also, I reserve a few shirts for my day out . . . when I have been gadding all day long.

I rush home and put these freshly ironed (He thinks) shirts in the closet for my husband. Nothing makes a husband madder than only one shirt in the closet so he has no choice.

Please don't use my name as HE isn't up to all my tricks yet!

-:-

DEAR HELOISE: We are always getting shocks from our rugs when touching the light switch, etc.

The best solution I've found is to go barefoot as much as possible.

To clear myself of static electricity before touching the baby, I touch a piece of metal, such as a radiator or pipe. It does sting a little but it prevents a shock to the baby.

It's so uncomfortable to know you are about to be sizzled!

ANDREWS.

Here's Formula For Buying Paint

Bet you never thought you'd have to use the old grade-school formula "Area = Length X Width." Well, you're in for a big surprise. You can put that formula to good use right now.

The National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association of Washington suggests you apply it to determine how much paint you will need for interior painting and finishing. Bear in mind, however, that the following rules will determine the amount of paint needed for one coat only.

—:—

IF YOU blithely run right out and buy several cans of paint without checking first, you may find yourself in sore distress. What's the hurry: Measure your interior before doing anything else.

Change your formula to A= L X H. This substitutes the height of the wall for the "W" and makes the formula easier to work with.

Measure each of the walls, find the area, and add the four totals together. Your answer is the total number of square feet to be covered. If, for any reason, you want to double - check your calculations just measure the perimeter of the room and multiply this figure by the height. The answer is the same. Remember not to deduct for windows unless they measure more than 100 square feet in size.

You can usually find out how many square feet a gallon will cover by looking at the label on the paint can. If the information isn't given, however, don't worry. Just ask your local, reputable paint dealer and he'll be more than glad to help you.

—:—

AFTER YOU divide the number of square feet to be painted by the number of square feet a gallon covers, you'll know how much paint to use for the job.

The same formula can be used to determine how much varnish you will need for the floors and how much paint you'll need for the ceiling.

If you're painting a flat surface, follow the same rules; however, not all surfaces are flat and the rules must then be changed. This time you measure the front area and multiply this figure by the key numbers listed below for a specific area:

Balustrades 4, cabinets 5, corners 2, grills 2, radiators 7, stairs, count the risers and multiply by 8.

Why not follow these simple rules and make interior painting easier and more economical for you in the long run. You'll end up with the right amount of paint for the job, no fuss, no bother, by remembering A—L X H.

'Big Push' On Inventories Seen If Steel Accord Lags

CLEVELAND (AP) — There will be a big push to build steel inventories in the last two months of the year unless there is an early labor settlement, Steel Magaine reported today.

"Automakers will set the pace and other big consumers will follow their example," the metalworking weekly said.

It added that what happens on the steel labor front during November and December will "have a crucial bearing on market conditions."

The magazine said that steel users can abandon their plans to build inventories for strike protection if steelmakers can wrap up a new labor contract—or at least make substantial progress toward one—by Christmas.

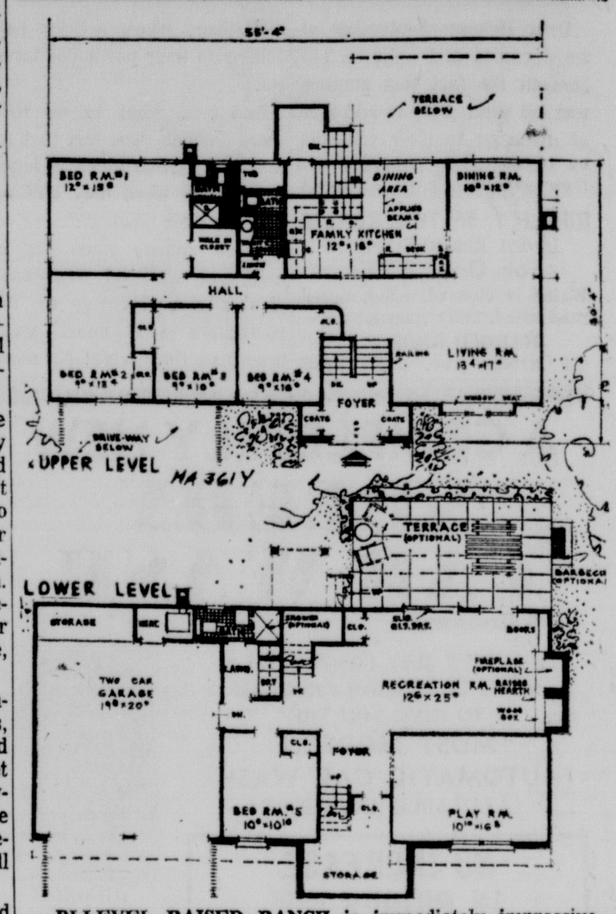

Steel producers will have grounds for optimism in early January, it added, if the United Steelworkers of America doesn't serve notice of its desire to terminate the present labor agreement. Notice of termination can't be served before Jan. 1 and the union can't strike before May 1 at the earliest—or 120 days after serving notice, the magazine explained.

Steel said that if a big inventory - building push occurs, "small users who can't afford to hedge may not be able to get enough steel to meet their day-to - day requirements because bigger companies have preempted so much space on mill books."

Steel production is expected to increase this week for the eighth consecutive week, with the output slightly higher than the estimate 2.5 million tons of last week, the publication said.

Steel's price composite on No. 1 heavy melting grade of steelmaking scrap was unchanged last week at $36 a gross ton.

BI-LEVEL RAISED RANCH is immediately impressive. The foyer contains dual coat closets. There is a diamond lited box bay window in the living room, with window seat, and beamed ceiling and planning desk in the kitchen. Rear stair makes for easy access to yard and lower level recreation room. The lower level features a 25-foot-long recreation room; the fireplace wall with bookcase is the focal point here. Children's activities can be kept separate, in their own playroom. A fifth bedroom is perfect for overnight company and the laundry room rounds out this well-planned house. Plan HA361Y, containing 1,509 square feet on the upper level and 845 on the lower, was designed by Herman York, 90-04 161 St., Jamaica, N. Y. 11432.

Here Are Ideas For Making Own Front-Door Hardware

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

Many owners of a house in a long line of look-alike dwellings have envied the heavy, solid look of the hardware on custom-built homes.

They also have found upon inquiry that the wrought-iron strap hinges and large lock-plates cost a pretty penny and cannot easily be installed by an amateur.

Be that as it may, any home owner can give his own front door that custom look if he can afford to spend a dollar or so on a few feet of ¼-inch press-wood or other hardboard.

First, spot the kind of strap hinges and door plate you admire. Next, draw an outline on the board and then cut it out with a scroll-saw. The same apples to a lock plate.

Having finished with the cutting, the imitation hinges and plate receive a heavy coat of black enamel and are then tacked with brads to the front door. As all front doors open inward, it is no job at all to attach the hinges where they belong. Actually, not one person in a hundred would ever detect the fact that the hinges were anything other than the real thing.

No doubt everyone has seen cutouts of dogs, numbers and names on lawns all over the countryside. The hinges mentioned above are items made in the same manner, but used to decorate the door instead of the lawn. It goes without saying that the real hinges do not have to be touched.

Runaway Train Spills Coal Load In Carolina

SALUDA, N.C. (AP) — A runaway freight train on a steep grade crashed off the end of an emergency siding Sunday sending 1,000 tons of coal helter skelter down Saluda Mountain.

The five crewmen of the Southern Railway train leaped to safety minutes before the six diesel engines pulling the 69 cars highballed off the end of the emergency siding. Four were uninjured. The other escaped with a sprained ankle.

The engines and 16 coal hoppers derailed. A witness said two of the engines plowed about 1,000 yards off the end of the siding.

The train, en route from Asheville to Spartanburg, S.C., was going down a grade which drops 1,000 feet in five miles when it went out of control.

The lightest known metal is lithium.

Here's Formula For Buying Paint

Bet you never thought you'd have to use the old grade-school formula "Area = Length X Width." Well, you're in for a big surprise. You can put that formula to good use right now.

The National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association of Washington suggests you apply it to determine how much paint you will need for interior painting and finishing. Bear in mind, however, that the following rules will determine the amount of paint needed for one coat only.

—:—

IF YOU blithely run right out and buy several cans of paint without checking first, you may find yourself in sore distress. What's the hurry: Measure your interior before doing anything else.

Change your formula to A= L X H. This substitutes the height of the wall for the "W" and makes the formula easier to work with.

Measure each of the walls, find the area, and add the four totals together. Your answer is the total number of square feet to be covered. If, for any reason, you want to double - check your calculations just measure the perimeter of the room and multiply this figure by the height. The answer is the same. Remember not to deduct for windows unless they measure more than 100 square feet in size.

You can usually find out how many square feet a gallon will cover by looking at the label on the paint can. If the information isn't given, however, don't worry. Just ask your local, reputable paint dealer and he'll be more than glad to help you.

—:—

AFTER YOU divide the number of square feet to be painted by the number of square feet a gallon covers, you'll know how much paint to use for the job.

The same formula can be used to determine how much varnish you will need for the floors and how much paint you'll need for the ceiling.

If you're painting a flat surface, follow the same rules; however, not all surfaces are flat and the rules must then be changed. This time you measure the front area and multiply this figure by the key numbers listed below for a specific area:

Balustrades 4, cabinets 5, cornices 2, grills 2, radiators 7, stairs, count the risers and multiply by 8.

Why not follow these simple rules and make interior painting easier and more economical for you in the long run. You'll end up with the right amount of paint for the job, no fuss, no bother, by remembering A—L X H.

'Big Push' On Inventories Seen If Steel Accord Lags

CLEVELAND (AP) — There will be a big push to build steel inventories in the last two months of the year unless there is an early labor settlement, Steel Magaine reported today.

"Automakers will set the pace and other big consumers will follow their example," the metalworking weekly said.

It added that what happens on the steel labor front during November and December will "have a crucial bearing on market conditions."

The magazine said that steel users can abandon their plans to build inventories for strike protection if steelmakers can wrap up a new labor contract—or at least make substantial progress toward one—by Christmas.

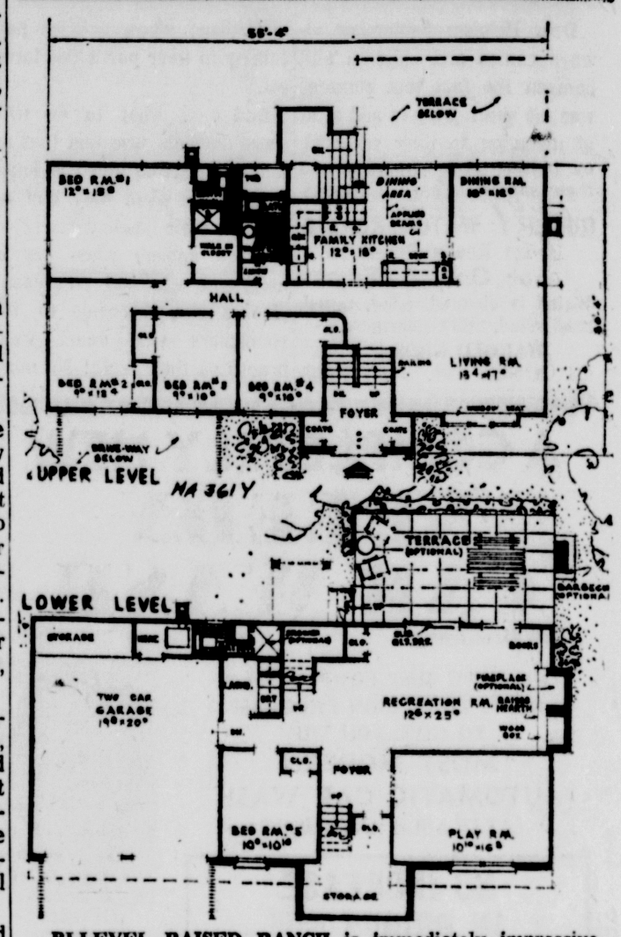

Steel producers will have grounds for optimism in early January, it added, if the United Steelworkers of America doesn't serve notice of its desire to terminate the present labor agreement. Notice of termination can't be served before Jan. 1 and the union can't strike before May 1 at the earliest—or 120 days after serving notice, the magazine explained.

Steel said that if a big inventory - building push occurs, "small users who can't afford to hedge may not be able to get enough steel to meet their day-to - day requirements because bigger companies have preempted so much space on mill books."

Steel production is expected to increase this week for the eighth consecutive week, with the output slightly higher than the estimate 2.5 million tons of last week, the publication said.

Steel's price composite on No. 1 heavy melting grade of steelmaking scrap was unchanged last week at $36 a gross ton.

BI-LEVEL RAISED RANCH is immediately impressive. The foyer contains dual coat closets. There is a diamond lited box bay window in the living room, with window seat, and beamed ceiling and planning desk in the kitchen. Rear stair makes for easy access to yard and lower level recreation room. The lower level features a 25-foot-long recreation room; the fireplace wall with bookcase is the focal point here. Children's activities can be kept separate, in their own playroom. A fifth bedroom is perfect for overnight company and the laundry room rounds out this well-planned house. Plan HA361Y, containing 1,509 square feet on the upper level and 845 on the lower, was designed by Herman York, 90-04 161 St., Jamaica, N. Y. 11432.

Here Are Ideas For Making Own Front-Door Hardware

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

Many owners of a house in a long line of look-alike dwellings have envied the heavy, solid look of the hardware on custom-built homes.

They also have found upon inquiry that the wrought-iron strap hinges and large lock-plates cost a pretty penny and cannot easily be installed by an amateur.

Be that as it may, any home owner can give his own front door that custom look if he can afford to spend a dollar or so on a few feet of ¼-inch press-wood or other hardboard.

First, spot the kind of strap hinges and door plate you admire. Next, draw an outline on the board and then cut it out with a scroll-saw. The same apples to a lock plate.

Having finished with the cutting, the imitation hinges and plate receive a heavy coat of black enamel and are then tacked with brads to the front door. As all front doors open inward, it is no job at all to attach the hinges where they belong. Actually, not one person in a hundred would ever detect the fact that the hinges were anything other than the real thing.

No doubt everyone has seen cutouts of dogs, numbers and names on lawns all over the countryside. The hinges mentioned above are items made in the same manner, but used to decorate the door instead of the lawn. It goes without saying that the real hinges do not have to be touched.

Runaway Train Spills Coal Load In Carolina

SALUDA, N.C. (AP) — A runaway freight train on a steep grade crashed off the end of an emergency siding Sunday sending 1,000 tons of coal helter skelter down Saluda Mountain.

The five crewmen of the Southern Railway train leaped to safety minutes before the six diesel engines pulling the 69 cars highballed off the end of the emergency siding. Four were uninjured. The other escaped with a sprained ankle.

The engines and 16 coal hoppers derailed. A witness said two of the engines plowed about 1,000 yards off the end of the siding.

The train, en route from Asheville to Spartanburg, S.C., was going down a grade which drops 1,000 feet in five miles when it went out of control.

Of Interest To Home Owners

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

From various sources come these bits of information of interest to the home owner:

One of the largest aluminum siding companies in the country has dropped its huge home manufacturing division after losing more than $8 million attempting to market aluminum-glass houses like automobiles.

The best guess for the inability to sell enough of the houses to make money: the designs were a little too ultramodern for most people.

The housing industry's trade publication, House & Home, is continuing its fight to get federal and state governments to put an end to land speculation by making assessments on vacant land equal to assessments on improved property. Which reminds us, there is some land in New York City's Borough of Manhattan which has a price tag of $13 million an acre.

THREE major building code organizations — the Building Officials Conference of America, the International Conference of Building Officials and the Southern Building Code Congress — are getting ready to draw up a single code for residential construction. The program is being pushed by the National Association of Home Builders, which maintains that outmoded residential building codes either hamper or bar the use of new materials and thus increase building costs.

Somebody has dug up the fact that the nation's first lumberman was Capt. John Smith, since he directed construction of a crude sawmill at Jamestown, Va., in 1608.

When you see circular saws, sometimes called table saws, advertised as 8-inch, 10-inch or 12-inch, this refers to the size of the blade. An 8-inch saw, for instance, will take a blade with a diameter of 8 inches.

In making comparisons between different brands, the solidity of the construction must be given prime consideration. Models in which the table tilts are cheapter than those in which the saw arbor tilts, but the latter usually are easier to use.

New Officers Selected For Utilities Unit

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. — Donald M. Kammert, president of the Monongahela Power Co. at Fairmont, W. Va., was named president of the Public Utilities Association of the Virginias at the conclusion of the association's 46th annual meeting over the weekend at The Greenbrier here.

Previously serving as vice president, Kammert will succeed Miles Cary of the Virginia Electric and Power Co. of Richmond, Va., as head of the two-state organization of investor-owned electric and gas utilities on Jan. 1.

Ronald G. MacDonald, president of the Potomac Edison Co. of Hagerstown, Md., which serves parts of Virginia and West Virginia, was elected first vice president and Ned C. Sheats, executive assistant of the Wheeling Electric Co., second vice president.

William F. Keehne of the Aplachian Power Co. of Roanoke, Va., was re-elected treasurer and Arthur T. Ellett of the Roanoke Gas Co. of Roanoke was re - elected assistant treasurer.

More than 375 delegates representing utilities in Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, District of Columbia and Kentucky attended the two - day meeting at The Greenbrier Hotel.

Food Lack Takes Toll In Nicaragua Region

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Health authorities say persons living in the isolated Tempisque region of Nicaragua are so badly weakened by malnutrition that 93 of them died of measles and whooping cough in the past two months.

Health officers said an investigating team found many persons in the area are affected by intestinal parasites and anemia caused by a deficient diet.

Selling A House? Then Take Care Of 'Little Things'

Question: We are getting ready to sell our house, which is 12 years old.

We have never sold a house before and there is some difference of opinion in our family as to whether it will pay us to spend any money fixing up certain things or whether we should just sell it "as is." What is your advice?

Answer: There can't be any set answer on this, since a lot depends on what are the "certain things" you are thinking of fixing. If the house needs a paint job, you will sell it much faster if you have the painting done before you put the house on the market.

Another advantage is that, in figuring the profit on the house for income tax purposes, you are permitted to deduct the cost of the paint job if it was done specifically for the purpose of making the house more saleable.

In selling a house, it is wise to take care of the so-called little things. While these may seem relatively unimportant from the standpoint of expense to the new owner, they play an important part in making a sale.

A leaky faucet, for instance, may make it appear that you don't make necessary small repairs and that, therefore, there probably are a lot of larger repairs which haven't been made.

A backyard in disorder, a door handle that doesn't turn, a crack in a plaster wall — these are just some of the little things you should attend to before people begin looking at your house with a critical eye, which is exactly the way prospective purchasers view it.

Use Of Bypass Slated On Pennsylvania Pike

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission has announced the $7.5 million Laurel Hill Tunnel bypass will be opened on a limited basis this week.

It's Wise To 'Re-Do' Entire Room At Time

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

As we sit on our wish brooms waiting for some great genie to turn our homes into glorious edifices such as those pictured in books and articles, we might face one important fact: These beautiful pictures may have taken an awful lot of effort from a great many people.

You can't put a beautiful home together over night.

For one thing, a remodeled room from planning stage to published color photos may have taken a year or much longer. That's why our amateur efforts do not seem to scratch the decorating surface.

It takes more than one pick-up — paint, slipcovers, draperies, rug, accessories usually to do the trick.

To get a new look, you must contemplate the project on an over-all basis. It may be far better to wait until you can afford to do an entire room than to do a little at a time unless you are an expert at decorating —or keep the same basic color scheme.

It is not like remodeling structurally. That can be done piecemeal to last.

There are fashions in decorating. And if you decide to paint this year and slipcover next year, perhaps nothing will come out even.

A properly coordinated room will last for many years because the patterns will fall in place and mellow together.

There is a lot of waste motion in piecemeal decorating. And it can be more expensive than doing the room over completely. A good decorating plan should last five years.

You might brighten the walls with paint or decide you'd rather have paper another year, but the basic color scheme will be followed.

Many stores have free decorating services so that you can get complete advice in coordinating colors, fabrics, paint, papers.

Tell them your favorite colors, whether you like color in large or small globs and they will make suggestions on how you can best put your own preferences into the home. Some decorators take color accents from dramatic paintings, in fact, build a whole room around a great painting, particularly modern art.

A contemporary room often is done as simply as this: White walls are used as the background for modern art that is often strong in colors.

Then those colors are used in furnishings and accessories. Often the paintings may be the only real color in a room, with black, white or neutral shades going into upholstered pieces.

Traditional homes may use color schemes from the period the furniture. Or if the furniture is mixed traditional, requiring soft colors like the Louis style or gay colors to perk up Victorian styles, these may all be noted by decorators to make the job of redecorating easier for the amateur.

Some people never change a good color scheme once it is evolved. They may change fabrics, but they always keep the same range of colors.

It can't be said too often that an interior decorator is well worth the small investment required to do the job when you can afford to redo an entire room. And you'll be set for a long while, if you pick a good decorator.

U.S. Birth Rate Falls From Past Generation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Population Reference Bureau says the birth rate in the United States is declining even though American women are marrying earlier and having their first babies sooner after marriage than a generation ago.

In a report, the bureau said the decline cannot be attributed either to a change in childbearing potential of American women or the development of new contraceptives.

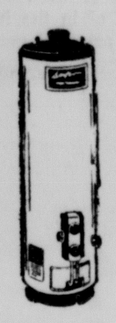

"The decline is due, rather, to a changing attitude regarding the size of the 'ideal family'," the report said. It is smaller than it used to be.

A properly coordinated room will last for many years because the patterns will fall in place and mellow together.

There is a lot of waste motion in piecemeal decorating. And it can be more expensive than doing the room over completely. A good decorating plan should last five years.

You might brighten the walls with paint or decide you'd rather have paper another year, but the basic color scheme will be followed.

Many stores have free decorating services so that you can get complete advice in coordinating colors, fabrics, paint, papers.

Tell them your favorite colors, whether you like color in large or small globs and they will make suggestions on how you can best put your own preferences into the home. Some decorators take color accents from dramatic paintings, in fact, build a whole room around a great painting, particularly modern art.

A contemporary room often is done as simply as this: White walls are used as the background for modern art that is often strong in colors.

Then those colors are used in furnishings and accessories. Often the paintings may be the only real color in a room, with black, white or neutral shades going into upholstered pieces.

Traditional homes may use color schemes from the period the furniture. Or if the furniture is mixed traditional, requiring soft colors like the Louis style or gay colors to perk up Victorian styles, these may all be noted by decorators to make the job of redecorating easier for the amateur.

Some people never change a good color scheme once it is evolved. They may change fabrics, but they always keep the same range of colors.

It can't be said too often that an interior decorator is well worth the small investment required to do the job when you can afford to redo an entire room. And you'll be set for a long while, if you pick a good decorator.

U.S. Birth Rate Falls From Past Generation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Population Reference Bureau says the birth rate in the United States is declining even though American women are marrying earlier and having their first babies sooner after marriage than a generation ago.

In a report, the bureau said the decline cannot be attributed either to a change in childbearing potential of American women or the development of new contraceptives.

"The decline is due, rather, to a changing attitude regarding the size of the 'ideal family'," the report said. It is smaller than it used to be.

Food Lack Takes Toll In Nicaragua Region

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Health authorities say persons living in the isolated Tempisque region of Nicaragua are so badly weakened by malnutrition that 93 of them died of measles and whooping cough in the past two months.

Health officers said an investigating team found many persons in the area are affected by intestinal parasites and anemia caused by a deficient diet.

Selling A House? Then Take Care Of 'Little Things'

Question: We are getting ready to sell our house, which is 12 years old.

We have never sold a house before and there is some difference of opinion in our family as to whether it will pay us to spend any money fixing up certain things or whether we should just sell it "as is." What is your advice?

Answer: There can't be any set answer on this, since a lot depends on what are the "certain things" you are thinking of fixing. If the house needs a paint job, you will sell it much faster if you have the painting done before you put the house on the market.

Another advantage is that, in figuring the profit on the house for income tax purposes, you are permitted to deduct the cost of the paint job if it was done specifically for the purpose of making the house more saleable.

In selling a house, it is wise to take care of the so-called little things. While these may seem relatively unimportant from the standpoint of expense to the new owner, they play an important part in making a sale.

A leaky faucet, for instance, may make it appear that you don't make necessary small repairs and that, therefore, there probably are a lot of larger repairs which haven't been made.

A backyard in disorder, a door handle that doesn't turn, a crack in a plaster wall — these are just some of the little things you should attend to before people begin looking at your house with a critical eye, which is exactly the way prospective purchasers view it.

Packers Lose As Hornung Misses Extra Point; Bears Triumph

By HAL BOCK
Associated Sports Writer

Paul Hornung's toe lost one for the Green Bay Packers, Bill Wade's arm won one for the Chicago Bears and John Baker's 270 pounds may have ended an era for the New York Giants.

Those were the key developments in Sunday's National Football League action which left the Packers with their first loss, the Bears with their first victory and New York with its worst start in nine years.

Green Bay lost by the margin of Hornung's missed extra point, 21-20 to Baltimore. Wade's passing blitzed Minnesota 34-28, and Baker's jarring tackle knocked Y.A. Tittle out of the game and started the Giants down to a 27-24 loss to the Steelers.

In other games, St. Louis and Cleveland tied 33-33, San Francisco upended Philadelphia 28-24, and Dallas downed Washington 24-18. Detroit and Los Angeles battled to a 17-17 tie Saturday night.

Baltimore's Johnny Unitas connected with two long touchdown passes, a 52-yarder to Lennie Moore and a 40-yarder to John Mackey, as the Colts scored all their points in the first half. Hornung scored on runs of 20 and four yards but missed the extra point after his second TD.

Wade completed 23 of 31 passes for 344 yards as the Bears broke loose against the Vikings. He heaved three touchdown passes and scored one six-pointer himself.

Frank Tarkenton threw four touchdown passes for the Vikings who lost their first game.

The Giants had a 14-0 lead against Pittsburgh when Baker caught Tittle deep in New York territory in the second period. The veteran quarterback's desperation pass was intercepted and returned for a TD by Chuck Hinton as Baker fell on him.

Tittle had to be helped from the field and did not play again. His injury was diagnosed as a bruised rib and torn cartilage and he was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital in New York for X-rays and treatment.

Hinton's touchdown started a Steeler comeback that was capped by Brady Keys' 90-yard punt return which set up Ed Brown's second TD of the game and wrapped it up for Pittsburgh.

The loss, second straight for the defending Eastern Division champions, left the Giants as the only NFL team without a victory this season. This is New York's worst start since 1955 when the Giants also lost their first two games and finished third with a 6-5-1 record.

Charley Johnson engineered a last minute drive with quick flips to Sonny Randle, Joe Childress and John David Crow enabling the Cardinals to get within field goal distance against the Browns. Jim Bakken's fourth three-pointer of the game from 28 yards out with five seconds left enabled St. Louis to tie it.

Jimmy Brown had put Cleveland on top in the see-saw game scoring a TD with 48 seconds to go but Johnson's pinpoint passing brought St. Louis back. Lou Groza kicked four field goals for Cleveland and scored his 1,000th career NFL point.

John Brodie and Bernie Casey combined to beat the Eagles for San Francisco. Brodie passed for 267 yards with 11 completions. Casey caught six passes for 169 yards.

The Eagles drove to the 49er nine yard line in the last minute but three Norm Snead passes fell incomplete in the end zone as time ran out.

A tight Dallas defense contained Washington quarterback Sonny Jurgenson as the Cowboys whipped the Redskins. Amos Marsh scored two TDs for Dallas.

Earl Morrall came off the bench and hit Terry Barr with a fourth quarter TD pass as the Lions rallied for their tie against Los Angeles. Rookie quarterback Bill Munson hurled two TD passes for the Rams.

Yanks One Length In Front After Bouton's 2 Hitter

Orioles Split Twin Bill

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

If Whitey Ford has his way, that two-hit shutout New York's Jim Bouton pitched was merely a tuneup for the opening game of the World Series against the Philadelphia Phillies.

An early tuneup, yes. But Bouton couldn't have appeared more set for a Series opener as the Yankees defeated Kansas City 4-0 Sunday and increased their American League lead to one game over the Baltimore Orioles, who split a doubleheader with Los Angeles.

The Yankees by no means have the pennant clinched, but each day they make Ford's Series plans less premature. The veteran left-hander and pitching coach mentioned the other day that he wouldn't start in the opener because the Yankees will use right-handers in Philadelphia.

Bouton, the team's winningest pitcher with 17 victories, would be the logical choice for the first game. His shutout against the Athletics was one of the best-pitched games New York has had this season.

He didn't allow a hit past the second inning, permitted just one baserunner past that point and didn't walk anyone.

The victory was the fifth straight for the Yankees, 13th in their last 16 games and 20th in the last 27, or since they started their sprint to the front. Before that spurt began — with a triumph over Boston in the second game of a doubleheader Aug. 22 — New York was six games from the top.

Starting with that game, which snapped a six-game losing streak, the Yankees have played at a .741 rate. Baltimore, on the other hand, has split evenly in 30 games for a .500 mark while Chicago is 14-15 for .483.

That sequence of events has left the Orioles three behind and the White Sox four behind the Yankees in the loss column. Baltimore and Chicago each have 10 games remaining, the Yankees 14.

The White Sox nipped the Senators on a run-scoring single in the sixth inning by rookie Marve Staehle, who also won a game last Tuesday with a single. Gary Peters, who gave up a three-run homer to Roy Sievers in the first brought his record to 19-8.

The Angels put a slight damper on the Orioles' pennant hopes with an 8-5, 10-inning first game victory, but Baltimore came back for an 8-2 triumph in the nightcap. The White Sox remained two games behind with a 4-3 decision over Washington. In other AL games, Minnesota bombed Boston 12-4 and Detroit edged Cleveland 6-5 before losing 7-2.

Kickers Have Field Day In Browns-Cards Game

By LOU MIO

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns and St. Louis Cardinals share first place in the Eastern Division of the National Football League today, and their respective field goal experts are largely responsible.

The Cards' Jim Bakkan made a 28-yarder with five seconds left to give the Cardinals a 33-33 tie Sunday before a crowd of 76,954 at Municipal Stadium on a clear, sunny day. Both teams are 1-0-1 in the standings.

Bakken kicked four field goals and the Browns' Lou Groza matched that in a game where 10 points were scored in the last 48 seconds.

"We aren't satisfied with a tie but we're lucky we didn't lose," was the post-game comment offered by Cards' fullback John David Crow, who made his first start since 1962. He had been plagued by injuries.

The crowd was sure of a Cleveland victory when fullback Jim Brown skirted right end from the one-yard line to give the Browns a 33-30 lead with 48 seconds left. But Cardinal quarterback Charley Johnson wasn't through yet.

Johnson, who threw touchdown passes of 38 and 50 yards to Sonny Randle, fired three quick passes, moving the Cards 54 yards in 43 seconds to set up Bakken's field goal for the tie.

Groza had field goals of 32, 12, 37 and 25 yards. Bakken kicked from 30, 52, 44 and 28 yards, the 51-yarder setting a Cardinal kicking record.

Ryan tossed 40 yards to Paul Warfield and seven yards to Gary Collins for touchdowns. Warfield's touchdown gave the Browns a 16-13 halftime lead that evaporated when Johnson connected with Randle for the 38-yarder, the first series of downs in the third quarter.

Collins' touchdown tied it, 23-23, leaving the fouth quarter to decide the winner. Johnson struck on the first play, hitting Randle on a 50-yard gainer for the touchdown.

Groza's 25-yard field goal cut the Cards lead to 30-26. After forcing the Cards to punt, Ryan started hitting Collins, with a key play on a fourth down and 19. Collins grabbed a 43-yard pass in front of the goal post and Brown scored two plays later.

Johnson, who hit on 14 of 27 attempts for 241 yards, marched the Cards back for the tie.

Ryan completed 12 of 26 passes for 189 yards. Brown led the rushers, getting 79 yards in 21 tries.

Groza's place kick after the first touchdown was his 1,000th point scored in the NFL.

The Browns travel to Philadelphia next Sunday.

Yanks One Length In Front After Bouton's 2 Hitter

Orioles Split Twin Bill

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

If Whitey Ford has his way, that two-hit shutout New York's Jim Bouton pitched was merely a tuneup for the opening game of the World Series against the Philadelphia Phillies.

An early tuneup, yes. But Bouton couldn't have appeared more set for a Series opener as the Yankees defeated Kansas City 4-0 Sunday and increased their American League lead to one game over the Baltimore Orioles, who split a doubleheader with Los Angeles.

The Yankees by no means have the pennant clinched, but each day they make Ford's Series plans less premature. The veteran left-hander and pitching coach mentioned the other day that he wouldn't start in the opener because the Yankees will use right-handers in Philadelphia.

Bouton, the team's winningest pitcher with 17 victories, would be the logical choice for the first game. His shutout against the Athletics was one of the best-pitched games New York has had this season.

He didn't allow a hit past the second inning, permitted just one baserunner past that point and didn't walk anyone.

The victory was the fifth straight for the Yankees, 13th in their last 16 games and 20th in the last 27, or since they started their sprint to the front. Before that spurt began — with a triumph over Boston in the second game of a doubleheader Aug. 22 — New York was six games from the top.

Starting with that game, which snapped a six-game losing streak, the Yankees have played at a .741 rate. Baltimore, on the other hand, has split evenly in 30 games for a .500 mark while Chicago is 14-15 for .483.

That sequence of events has left the Orioles three behind and the White Sox four behind the Yankees in the loss column. Baltimore and Chicago each have 10 games remaining, the Yankees 14.

The White Sox nipped the Senators on a run-scoring single in the sixth inning by rookie Marve Staehle, who also won a game last Tuesday with a single. Gary Peters, who gave up a three-run homer to Roy Sievers in the first brought his record to 19-8.

The Angels put a slight damper on the Orioles' pennant hopes with an 8-5, 10-inning first game victory, but Baltimore came back for an 8-2 triumph in the nightcap. The White Sox remained two games behind with a 4-3 decision over Washington. In other AL games, Minnesota bombed Boston 12-4 and Detroit edged Cleveland 6-5 before losing 7-2.

Kickers Have Field Day In Browns-Cards Game

By LOU MIO

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns and St. Louis Cardinals share first place in the Eastern Division of the National Football League today, and their respective field goal experts are largely responsible.

The Cards' Jim Bakkan made a 28-yarder with five seconds left to give the Cardinals a 33-33 tie Sunday before a crowd of 76,954 at Municipal Stadium on a clear, sunny day. Both teams are 1-0-1 in the standings.

Bakken kicked four field goals and the Browns' Lou Groza matched that in a game where 10 points were scored in the last 48 seconds.

"We aren't satisfied with a tie but we're lucky we didn't lose," was the post-game comment offered by Cards' fullback John David Crow, who made his first start since 1962. He had been plagued by injuries.

The crowd was sure of a Cleveland victory when fullback Jim Brown skirted right end from the one-yard line to give the Browns a 33-30 lead with 48 seconds left. But Cardinal quarterback Charley Johnson wasn't through yet.

Johnson, who threw touchdown passes of 38 and 50 yards to Sonny Randle, fired three quick passes, moving the Cards 54 yards in 43 seconds to set up Bakken's field goal for the tie.

Groza had field goals of 32, 12, 37 and 25 yards. Bakken kicked from 30, 52, 44 and 28 yards, the 51-yarder setting a Cardinal kicking record.

Ryan tossed 40 yards to Paul Warfield and seven yards to Gary Collins for touchdowns. Warfield's touchdown gave the Browns a 16-13 halftime lead that evaporated when Johnson connected with Randle for the 38-yarder, the first series of downs in the third quarter.

Collins' touchdown tied it, 23-23, leaving the fouth quarter to decide the winner. Johnson struck on the first play, hitting Randle on a 50-yard gainer for the touchdown.

Groza's 25-yard field goal cut the Cards lead to 30-26. After forcing the Cards to punt, Ryan started hitting Collins, with a key play on a fourth down and 19. Collins grabbed a 43-yard pass in front of the goal post and Brown scored two plays later.

Johnson, who hit on 14 of 27 attempts for 241 yards, marched the Cards back for the tie.

Ryan completed 12 of 26 passes for 189 yards. Brown led the rushers, getting 79 yards in 21 tries.

Groza's place kick after the first touchdown was his 1,000th point scored in the NFL.

The Browns travel to Philadelphia next Sunday.

Bunning Posts 18th Win, Phillies Magic No. Is 7

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Who said it's Richie Allen or Johnny Callison for Most Valuable Player honors in the National League?

What about Jim (Perfect Game) Bunning, the pitching portion of Philadelphia's key triumvirate?

Bunning, the 32-year-old right-hander acquired in an off-season trade with Detroit, allowed only a pair of unearned runs Sunday as he brought his record to 18-5 with a five-hitter in the National League leading Phillies' 3-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Phillies' victory, coupled with Cincinnati's 9-6 victory over St. Louis, reduced Philadelphia's magic pennant-clinching number to seven. Any combination of Philadelphia victories or St. Louis and Cincinnati defeats totaling seven will bring the Phillies their first flag since 1950.

The Reds and Cardinals are tied for second place, 6½ games behind the Phillies while fourth-place San Francisco remained seven back by beating Pittsburgh 4-3 in 11 innings. Elsewhere, Milwaukee defeated the Chicago Cubs 5-2 and Houston blanked New York's Mets 1-0.

The Phillies scored twice in the first inning against loser Jim Brewer before adding what turned out to be the winning run in the fourth inning.

The Dodgers were blanked until the ninth when Maury Wills singled, stole second and eventually scored on an error by Vic Power. A single by Tommy Davis scored another run before Bunning cut off the rally.

The Cardinals pulled into a 6-0 lead on homers by Lou Brock, Dick Groat and Mike Shannon, but the Reds ultimately snapped a 6-6 tie with two errors leading to three unearned runs in the eighth inning.

The Giants tied the game in the bottom of the ninth on Tom Haller's homer, then scored the decisive run in the 11th on an error, a steal of second by Haller and Hal Lanier's single.

Home runs by Felipe Alou and Rico Carty got the job done for the Braves. Alou's three-run homer in the fifth overcame a 2-0 Chicago lead built on home runs by Billy Cowan and Ernie Banks.

Houston's Bob Bruce struck out 10, walked none, allowed only two hits and didn't let a runner past first in outpitching the Mets' young Tom Parsons. Singles by Al Spangler and Rusty Staub and a sacrifice fly produced the only run.

Syracuse, Washington Fall

College Football Marked By Early Season Upsets

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ever wonder why all football coaches are pessimists and football prognosticators are slightly whacky? Take a look at last weekend's results, then another at what's just ahead.

After the first full weekend of college action this season, the major colleges who played can be listed this way:

Already upset: Syracuse, Washington, North Carolina, Missouri, Mississippi State, VMI, New Mexico.

Too close for comfort: Oklahoma, Duke, Louisiana State, Georgia Tech, Kentucky, Northwestern, Wisconsin, Arkansas, Kansas, Oregon, Washington State, Virginia Tech.

Scared but safe: Navy, Wake Forest, West Virginia, Utah.

Breathing easy: Army, Alabama, Auburn, Florida, Texas, Iowa State, Arizona State, Wyoming, Southern California.

Two of the upset victims and two whose coaches may feel a bit shaken were among the Top Ten teams in The Associated Press pre-season ratings. Four of the Top Ten were easy winners and two haven't played.

Washington, rated as the team to beat on the Pacific Coast and No. 7 in the AP poll, fell before the Air Force 3-2 as Bert Holaday, who beat the Huskies last year, did it again with a 23-yard field goal. Syracuse, No. 8 and considered the East's best, was dumped by Boston College 21-14 on a tie-breaking pass from Larry Marzetti to Bill Cronin in the closing seconds.

Some of the other prime upsets saw North Carolina State down North Carolina 14-13, Texas Tech whip Mississippi State 21-7, William and Mary beat VMI 14-12, California trim Missouri 21-14, Utah beat New Mexico 16-0 and South Carolina hold Duke to a 9-9 tie.

Mississippi, tabbed as No. 1 in the AP pre-season voting, opened with a convincing 30-0 victory over Memphis State and takes on Kentucky Saturday in a Jackson, Miss., doubleheader which also sends Mississippi State against Florida. Kentucky barely beat Detroit 14-6 while Florida trimmed Southern Methodist 24-8.

Texas racked up its 12th straight victory, 31-0 over Tulane, and should be favored over Texas Tech. The Longhorns are rated No. 4. Alabama, No. 6, easily beat Georgia 31-3 and has a fairly easy assignment against Tulane at Mobile. Illinois and Ohio State, 3 and 5, open this week against California and SMU, respectively.

Oklahoma, second in the pre-season ratings, trailed Maryland for some 56 minutes. Then John Hammond took over at quarterback and fired a 90-yard scoring pass to Lance Rentzel, an interception set up another touchdown and the Sooners won 13-3. Next for Oklahoma is Southern California, 21-0 winner over Colorado Friday.

Tenth-rated Navy saw quarterback Roger Staubach stopped but pulled out a 21-8 decision over Penn State. By comparison W&M should be easy. Auburn, No. 8, whipped Houston 30-0 and runs into Tennessee, which had a shaky 10-6 decision over Chattanooga.

Sebring Humbles United By 28-6

HANOVERTON — Sebring went to the air in the second half to break up what was a close contest and went on to defeat United, 28-6, here Saturday afternoon.

Sebring, in winning its second straight, scored in the first period when Bryan Mingledorff went four yards for the TD and Cecil Bailey added the conversion.

United bounced back with a 45-yard drive climaxed by Gene Metzgar's three yard run to paydirt but missed the conversion.

Sebring pulled away in the third quarter on a 55-yard punt return by Bailey then scored twice through the air in the final period.

Bill Whitacre passed 25 yards to end Marty Bowers early in the fourth quarter. The final TD came on a 20-yard aerial from John Schwartzoff to Doug Kolbreath.

In defeat, Metzgar was the standout for United gaining 128 yards rushing in 22 carries.

United showed 200 rushing to Sebring's 123 but the visitors had over 100 yards in the air.

Gnats 'Bug' Both U.S., Aussies At Cleveland Courts

By WILL GRIMSLEY

CLEVELAND (AP) — The American and Australian Davis Cup tennis teams, preparing for the weekend challenge round, have run into their first complication—gnats.

"What are we supposed to do with these pests?" U.S. captain Vic Seixas said, as he brushed a flock of the insects away from his face at the Harold T. Clark courts.

The Australians seemed less distracted.

"They're not much different than the flies we have at Sydney and Perth,' said Roy Emerson, the Wimbledon and U.S. champion who is expected to wrest the cup from the Yanks next Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Flies are bad at Sydney, but worse at Perth, the West Australian capital, where they zero in like dive bombers and stick like ticks.

The Davis Cup challenge round, the World Series of tennis, never has been played in more wide open spaces — or under more unique conditions.

The single court, which will entertain the world's best amateurs, is located on an old baseball field of the nearby Roxboro Junior High School in fashionable Cleveland Heights.

Bunning Posts 18th Win, Phillies Magic No. Is 7

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Who said it's Richie Allen or Johnny Callison for Most Valuable Player honors in the National League?

What about Jim (Perfect Game) Bunning, the pitching portion of Philadelphia's key triumvirate?

Bunning, the 32-year-old right-hander acquired in an off-season trade with Detroit, allowed only a pair of unearned runs Sunday as he brought his record to 18-5 with a five-hitter in the National League leading Phillies' 3-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Phillies' victory, coupled with Cincinnati's 9-6 victory over St. Louis, reduced Philadelphia's magic pennant-clinching number to seven. Any combination of Philadelphia victories or St. Louis and Cincinnati defeats totaling seven will bring the Phillies their first flag since 1950.

The Reds and Cardinals are tied for second place, 6½ games behind the Phillies while fourth-place San Francisco remained seven back by beating Pittsburgh 4-3 in 11 innings. Elsewhere, Milwaukee defeated the Chicago Cubs 5-2 and Houston blanked New York's Mets 1-0.

The Phillies scored twice in the first inning against loser Jim Brewer before adding what turned out to be the winning run in the fourth inning.

The Dodgers were blanked until the ninth when Maury Wills singled, stole second and eventually scored on an error by Vic Power. A single by Tommy Davis scored another run before Bunning cut off the rally.

The Cardinals pulled into a 6-0 lead on homers by Lou Brock, Dick Groat and Mike Shannon, but the Reds ultimately snapped a 6-6 tie with two errors leading to three unearned runs in the eighth inning.

The Giants tied the game in the bottom of the ninth on Tom Haller's homer, then scored the decisive run in the 11th on an error, a steal of second by Haller and Hal Lanier's single.

Home runs by Felipe Alou and Rico Carty got the job done for the Braves. Alou's three-run homer in the fifth overcame a 2-0 Chicago lead built on home runs by Billy Cowan and Ernie Banks.

Houston's Bob Bruce struck out 10, walked none, allowed only two hits and didn't let a runner past first in outpitching the Mets' young Tom Parsons. Singles by Al Spangler and Rusty Staub and a sacrifice fly produced the only run.

College Football Marked By Early Season Upsets

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ever wonder why all football coaches are pessimists and football prognosticators are slightly whacky? Take a look at last weekend's results, then another at what's just ahead.

After the first full weekend of college action this season, the major colleges who played can be listed this way:

Already upset: Syracuse, Washington, North Carolina, Missouri, Mississippi State, VMI, New Mexico.

Too close for comfort: Oklahoma, Duke, Louisiana State, Georgia Tech, Kentucky, Northwestern, Wisconsin, Arkansas, Kansas, Oregon, Washington State, Virginia Tech.

Scared but safe: Navy, Wake Forest, West Virginia, Utah.

Breathing easy: Army, Alabama, Auburn, Florida, Texas, Iowa State, Arizona State, Wyoming, Southern California.

Two of the upset victims and two whose coaches may feel a bit shaken were among the Top Ten teams in The Associated Press pre-season ratings. Four of the Top Ten were easy winners and two haven't played.

Washington, rated as the team to beat on the Pacific Coast and No. 7 in the AP poll, fell before the Air Force 3-2 as Bert Holaday, who beat the Huskies last year, did it again with a 23-yard field goal. Syracuse, No. 8 and considered the East's best, was dumped by Boston College 21-14 on a tie-breaking pass from Larry Marzetti to Bill Cronin in the closing seconds.

Some of the other prime upsets saw North Carolina State down North Carolina 14-13, Texas Tech whip Mississippi State 21-7, William and Mary beat VMI 14-12, California trim Missouri 21-14, Utah beat New Mexico 16-0 and South Carolina hold Duke to a 9-9 tie.

Mississippi, tabbed as No. 1 in the AP pre-season voting, opened with a convincing 30-0 victory over Memphis State and takes on Kentucky Saturday in a Jackson, Miss., doubleheader which also sends Mississippi State against Florida. Kentucky barely beat Detroit 14-6 while Florida trimmed Southern Methodist 24-8.

Texas racked up its 12th straight victory, 31-0 over Tulane, and should be favored over Texas Tech. The Longhorns are rated No. 4. Alabama, No. 6, easily beat Georgia 31-3 and has a fairly easy assignment against Tulane at Mobile. Illinois and Ohio State, 3 and 5, open this week against California and SMU, respectively.

Oklahoma, second in the pre-season ratings, trailed Maryland for some 56 minutes. Then John Hammond took over at quarterback and fired a 90-yard scoring pass to Lance Rentzel, an interception set up another touchdown and the Sooners won 13-3. Next for Oklahoma is Southern California, 21-0 winner over Colorado Friday.

Tenth-rated Navy saw quarterback Roger Staubach stopped but pulled out a 21-8 decision over Penn State. By comparison W&M should be easy. Auburn, No. 8, whipped Houston 30-0 and runs into Tennessee, which had a shaky 10-6 decision over Chattanooga.

Sebring Humbles United By 28-6

HANOVERTON — Sebring went to the air in the second half to break up what was a close contest and went on to defeat United, 28-6, here Saturday afternoon.

Sebring, in winning its second straight, scored in the first period when Bryan Mingledorff went four yards for the TD and Cecil Bailey added the conversion.

United bounced back with a 45-yard drive climaxed by Gene Metzgar's three yard run to paydirt but missed the conversion.

Sebring pulled away in the third quarter on a 55-yard punt return by Bailey then scored twice through the air in the final period.

Bill Whitacre passed 25 yards to end Marty Bowers early in the fourth quarter. The final TD came on a 20-yard aerial from John Schwartzoff to Doug Kolbreath.

In defeat, Metzgar was the standout for United gaining 128 yards rushing in 22 carries.

United showed 200 rushing to Sebring's 123 but the visitors had over 100 yards in the air.

Gnats 'Bug' Both U.S., Aussies At Cleveland Courts

By WILL GRIMSLEY

CLEVELAND (AP) — The American and Australian Davis Cup tennis teams, preparing for the weekend challenge round, have run into their first complication—gnats.

"What are we supposed to do with these pests?" U.S. captain Vic Seixas said, as he brushed a flock of the insects away from his face at the Harold T. Clark courts.

The Australians seemed less distracted.

"They're not much different than the flies we have at Sydney and Perth,' said Roy Emerson, the Wimbledon and U.S. champion who is expected to wrest the cup from the Yanks next Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Flies are bad at Sydney, but worse at Perth, the West Australian capital, where they zero in like dive bombers and stick like ticks.

The Davis Cup challenge round, the World Series of tennis, never has been played in more wide open spaces — or under more unique conditions.

The single court, which will entertain the world's best amateurs, is located on an old baseball field of the nearby Roxboro Junior High School in fashionable Cleveland Heights.

Defeat Of Iowa In 1926, Marty Karow Recalls

Marty Karow, author of the following, was one of Ohio State's standout grid stars in the 20s; he played professional baseball, and returned to Ohio State as baseball coach in 1951 after coaching football and baseball at Texas A. & M., Texas and Navy.

By MARTY KAROW

(For The Associated Press)

I can recall my greatest sports thrill very quickly and vividly, although it happened almost 40 years ago.

And although I have spent the better part of my life coaching baseball, I must turn to football for my greatest "kick."

It was on a Saturday afternoon, in Ohio Stadium, during October of 1926. I was captain of the Buckeyes and playing fullback. We were playing the Iowa Hawkeyes and leading at the half by a small margin.

To start the second half, I kicked off. Iowa half back Paul Armil fielded the ball near the goal line and started the run-back. He avoided several tacklers, and cut up the west side of the field, in front of the press box, to about the 35-yard line.

I had an angle on him, and we collided. The ball squirted into the air, and as I regained my balance it came down right into my arms. In what seemed a single motion, I had possession of the ball and was running toward the Iowa goal line.

No one was in front of me. All I had to do was run 35 yards straight ahead.

One of the officials—I think it was the referee—was jostled on the play and his whistle fell from his mouth.

I don't know whether he planned to blow the ball dead or not, but in any event he didn't have his whistle and none of the other officials offered an objection. So I had a touchdown.

As I recall, there was no protest from the Iowa players, either.

We won the game 23-6, which was part of a six-game winning streak.

Three weeks later we lost a heart - breaker to Michigan, 17 to 16, our only defeat of the season. Incidentally, that was my biggest disappointment, so I had my big "up" and my big "down" the same season.

We wound up the season the following week by defeating Illinois 7 to 6, which took away part of the sting.

But I'll remember that touchdown long after memories of a lifetime's other thrills and disappointments have faded.

Polls Reveal British Tory Party Boosts

LONDON (AP)—Less than a year ago Britain's ruling Conservative party was in disarray, its leader on a hospital bed, his chief aides vying for his post and the party's popularity lagging well behind that of the Labor party.

Today, public opinion polls indicate, the Conservatives have drawn level with the Laborites. A general election is only 24 days away.

What has happened to raise the Conservative fortunes in the 11 months since Sir Alec Douglas-Home was named to succeed Prime Minister Harold Macmillan?

Reasons advanced by British observers include:

First of all, the electorate appears to like the pleasant, patrician personality of the 14th Earl of Home who renounced his title to become prime minister. His calm, easy-going self assurance in House of Commons debate has won many admirers.

A remarkably efficient central party organization which reportedly began preparing last October for the general elections to be held Oct. 15.

A campaign fund estimated at more than $8.4 million.

The prime minister's advantage in setting the election date.

The Labor party's publicity machine swung into action twice, apparently in anticipation of March or June elections. Labor's big guns may have been uncovered too soon.

After renouncing his title Douglas-Home had to seek election to the House of Commons. He succeeded handsomely and inaugurated a chatty, whistle-stop type of campaigning. The voters appear to like it.

He also coolly sat out temporary improvements in Conservative fortunes and waited to call the elections until almost the last possible date allowed by law. This gave him the chance of getting his personality across to the nation.

Haddock fillets are excellent to use in making fish chowder; for seasoning a Scandinavian way, add minced fresh dill.

Taft Backed At Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Robert Taft Jr., Republican congressman-at-large from Cincinnati, is the Cleveland Plain Dealer's choice for the Senate held by Democrat Stephen M. Young.

The paper endorsed Taft Sunday, saying:

"By background, training and performance he is eminently qualified to follow in the footsteps of his famous father. He is young at 47, moderate, serious, ready for the challenge of the future . . ."

The paper said Taft's 75-year-old opponent "obviously has enjoyed his six years in the senate. Unfortunately he has given little evidence of being an independent thinker."

The Plain Dealer backed John W. Bricker when Young ran for the Senate the first time. It endorsed President Johnson for re-election in November.

Democrats Charged With Avoiding Issues

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP)—Rep. Robert Taft Jr., Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate, says Democratic candidates throughout the country want to win the campaign but refuse to discuss the "issues."

"The real issue is whether or not the Democrats intend to talk about the issues," the Ohio congressman-at-large told 2,500 at a GOP rally at Randolph Fairgrounds Sunday.

"The Democrats are relying on emotionalism. I have offered to appear anywhere in this state against my opponent."

He accused his opponent, Democratic incumbent Sen. Stephen M. Young, of also refusing to discuss the issues.

Young Man Slain During Fight On Cleveland Street

CLEVELAND (AP) — One young man is dead and another seriously wounded after a shooting incident that also involved their four companions and a family of five.

Edward Haley, 22, of Cleveland, died in Metropolitan General Hospital Sunday, 12 hours after he was shot in the stomach. Raymond Brown, 23, of Brunswick, was hospitalized with chest wounds.

The group of six had been drinking at a cafe and became involved in an incident with five members of a family riding in a car. The driver, Juan Del Gaddo Rodriguez of Cleveland, gave this account, according to police.

The young men blocked the street with their cars, and after he was allowed to pass, they followed him to a stop sign.

The youths took Rodriguez' two daughters, Mirta, 14, and Aidalina, 15, out of the car and tore their clothes. Rodriguez, his wife, Josephine, and stepson, Luis Gusman, 35, went to their aid.

One of the men began hitting his wife, and Rodriguez and Gusman were subdued. Haley got a plastic clothesline from his car and tied it around Aidalina's neck.

Gusman broke loose, drew a pistol and shot both men. The family fled, police said, and Gusman was picked up at their home later.

Defeat Of Iowa In 1926, Marty Karow Recalls

Marty Karow, author of the following, was one of Ohio State's standout grid stars in the 20s; he played professional baseball, and returned to Ohio State as baseball coach in 1951 after coaching football and baseball at Texas A. & M., Texas and Navy.

By MARTY KAROW
(For The Associated Press)

I can recall my greatest sports thrill very quickly and vividly, although it happened almost 40 years ago.

And although I have spent the better part of my life coaching baseball, I must turn to football for my greatest "kick."

It was on a Saturday afternoon, in Ohio Stadium, during October of 1926. I was captain of the Buckeyes and playing fullback. We were playing the Iowa Hawkeyes and leading at the half by a small margin.

To start the second half, I kicked off. Iowa half back Paul Armil fielded the ball near the goal line and started the runback. He avoided several tacklers, and cut up the west side of the field, in front of the press box, to about the 35-yard line.

I had an angle on him, and we collided. The ball squirted into the air, and as I regained my balance it came down right into my arms. In what seemed a single motion, I had possession of the ball and was running toward the Iowa goal line.

No one was in front of me. All I had to do was run 35 yards straight ahead.

One of the officials—I think it was the referee—was jostled on the play and his whistle fell from his mouth.

I don't know whether he planned to blow the ball dead or not, but in any event he didn't have his whistle and none of the other officials offered an objection. So I had a touchdown.

As I recall, there was no protest from the Iowa players, either.

We won the game 23-6, which was part of a six-game winning streak.

Three weeks later we lost a heart - breaker to Michigan, 17 to 16, our only defeat of the season. Incidentally, that was my biggest disappointment, so I had my big "up" and my big "down" the same season.

We wound up the season the following week by defeating Illinois 7 to 6, which took away part of the sting.

But I'll remember that touchdown long after memories of a lifetime's other thrills and disappointments have faded.

Polls Reveal British Tory Party Boosts

LONDON (AP)—Less than a year ago Britain's ruling Conservative party was in disarray, its leader on a hospital bed, his chief aides vying for his post and the party's popularity lagging well behind that of the Labor party.

Today, public opinion polls indicate, the Conservatives have drawn level with the Laborites. A general election is only 24 days away.

What has happened to raise the Conservative fortunes in the 11 months since Sir Alec Douglas-Home was named to succeed Prime Minister Harold Macmillan?

Reasons advanced by British observers include:

First of all, the electorate appears to like the pleasant, patrician personality of the 14th Earl of Home who renounced his title to become prime minister. His calm, easy-going self assurance in House of Commons debate has won many admirers.

A remarkably efficient central party organization which reportedly began preparing last October for the general elections to be held Oct. 15.

A campaign fund estimated at more than $8.4 million.

The prime minister's advantage in setting the election date.

The Labor party's publicity machine swung into action twice, apparently in anticipation of March or June elections. Labor's big guns may have been uncovered too soon.

After renouncing his title Douglas-Home had to seek election to the House of Commons. He succeeded handsomely and inaugurated a chatty, whistle-stop type of campaigning. The voters appear to like it.

He also coolly sat out temporary improvements in Conservative fortunes and waited to call the elections until almost the last possible date allowed by law. This gave him the chance of getting his personality across to the nation.

Haddock fillets are excellent to use in making fish chowder; for seasoning a Scandinavian way, add minced fresh dill.

Taft Backed At Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Robert Taft Jr., Republican congressman-at-large from Cincinnati, is the Cleveland Plain Dealer's choice for the Senate held by Democrat Stephen M. Young.

The paper endorsed Taft Sunday, saying:

"By background, training and performance he is eminently qualified to follow in the footsteps of his famous father. He is young at 47, moderate, serious, ready for the challenge of the future . . ."

The paper said Taft's 75-year-old opponent "obviously has enjoyed his six years in the senate. Unfortunately he has given little evidence of being an independent thinker."

The Plain Dealer backed John W. Bricker when Young ran for the Senate the first time. It endorsed President Johnson for re-election in November.

Democrats Charged With Avoiding Issues

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP)—Rep. Robert Taft Jr., Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate, says Democratic candidates throughout the country want to win the campaign but refuse to discuss the "issues."

"The real issue is whether or not the Democrats intend to talk about the issues," the Ohio congressman-at-large told 2,500 at a GOP rally at Randolph Fairgrounds Sunday.

"The Democrats are relying on emotionalism. I have offered to appear anywhere in this state against my opponent."

He accused his opponent, Democratic incumbent Sen. Stephen M. Young, of also refusing to discuss the issues.

Young Man Slain During Fight On Cleveland Street

CLEVELAND (AP) — One young man is dead and another seriously wounded after a shooting incident that also involved their four companions and a family of five.

Edward Haley, 22, of Cleveland, died in Metropolitan General Hospital Sunday, 12 hours after he was shot in the stomach. Raymond Brown, 23, of Brunswick, was hospitalized with chest wounds.

The group of six had been drinking at a cafe and became involved in an incident with five members of a family riding in a car. The driver, Juan Del Gaddo Rodriguez of Cleveland, gave this account, according to police.

The young men blocked the street with their cars, and after he was allowed to pass, they followed him to a stop sign.

The youths took Rodriguez' two daughters, Mirta, 14, and Aidalina, 15, out of the car and tore their clothes. Rodriguez, his wife, Josephine, and stepson, Luis Gusman, 35, went to their aid.

One of the men began hitting his wife, and Rodriguez and Gusman were subdued. Haley got a plastic clothesline from his car and tied it around Aidalina's neck.

Gusman broke loose, drew a pistol and shot both men. The family fled, police said, and Gusman was picked up at their home later.

RONALD EDWARD STOFFEL, a minor, who while a resident of the State of Ohio resided with Alice Edgell at Riverside Park, East Liverpool, Ohio, but whose known place of residence now is General Delivery, Goshen, New York, will take notice that on the 21st day of August, 1964, the Plaintiff, Paul Tobin, Administrator d.b.n. with the Will Annexed of the Estate of Dessie Ovada Stoffel, deceased, filed his petition against him in the Probate Court of Columbiana County, Ohio, the same being Case Number 58694-A, for the purpose of selling the real estate described below to pay debts of said estate.

Said property is described as follows:

Situated in the Township of Liverpool, County of Columbiana and State of Ohio, and known as and being the West One-Half (½) of Lot Number Eight (8), as said Lot is numbered and distinguished on the recorded plat of Homeland, as laid out by the heirs of George Fisher, deceased, in said Township.

Grantor acquired the foregoing real estate by Deed recorded in Volume 675, Page 257, Columbiana County, Ohio, Deed Records.

TRACT II:

Situated in the City of East Liverpool, County of Columbiana and State of Ohio, and known as and being a part of Lot Number Two (2), as said Lot is numbered and distinguished on the recorded plat of Pickal's "Jethro" Addition to said City, and being more fully described as follows: Beginning at the southeasterly corner of Lot 15 in the said Pickal's "Jethro Addition"; thence south 10° 29' East a distance of 81.88 feet to a point; thence South 42° 03' West a distance of 50.2 feet to a point thence North 23° 11' West 29.8 feet to a point; thence South 83° 31' West 42.55 feet to a point; thence North 3° 01' West 83.5 feet to a point in the southerly line of Lot 13, said point being south 83° West 17.1 feet from the southeasterly corner of the said Lot 13 in said Pickal's "Jethro" Addition, thence along the southerly line of Lots 13, 14 and 15 in said Addition, North 82° East 77.1 feet to the place of beginning.

Subject, however, to a right-of-way heretofore reserved and included in a conveyance from Dessie O. Stoffel to Thomas Ward and Bertha Ward, their heirs and assigns, as described in Volume 877, Page 43, of the Columbiana County Deed Records and described as follows: Commencing at the southeast corner of the said Lot 13, and running south 82° West 17.1 feet to a point; thence south 3° 01' East 83.5 feet to a point; thence North 83° 31' East 42.55 feet to a point, and place of beginning of the reservation of the right-of-way herein described; thence from said place of beginning, North 83° 31' East 40 feet to a point in the southeasterly line of lands of Grantors; thence with said line South 42° 03' West 15.10 feet to a point; thence south 83° 31' West 25.69 feet to a point; thence North 23° 11' West 10.44 feet to the place of beginning.

Being a part of the same premises described in Volume 753, Page 111 of the Columbiana County Deed Records.

The prayer of said Petition is for authorization for said Administrator De Bonnis Non with the Will Annexed to sell said property described above and to apply the proceeds of said sale for the payment of debts.

Said Defendant, Ronald Edward Stoffel, is required to answer said Petition on the 5th day of Oct., 1964, or judgment will be taken against him.

Junior Editors Quiz on MORGAN HORSE

QUESTION: How did the Morgan breed of horse originate?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: The Morgan is a special, remarkable breed of horse. It is decended from one particular horse, a stallion who not only had special qualities but the ability to pass these to his descendants, so they have become the qualities of an entire breed. This horse, shown in the picture by a statue presented by the Morgan Horse Club to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, was named Justin Morgan after his owner Justin Morgan, who obtained him as a colt. The colt, born in 1793, was first used by Morgan as a saddle horse. He is thought to have had Thoroughbred and Arabian ancestors as well as other blood strains. Small, fast, with an exceptionally gentle disposition, this horse was extremely strong and able to pull heavier weights than any other horse his size. He lived to be 29 and had a number of owners. Recognized as a remarkable animal, he was bred many times, and his colts proved to have the same wonderful combination of strength and gentleness. Soon the Morgan horse became popular all over America. The "Bulrush," "Sherman," and "Woodbury" types of Morgans are only slightly different. From the Sherman branch came another, the "Black Hawk" type.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Compare the horse in the statue to pictures of other types of horses. See if you can spot any differences in appearance.

Q. — How can I make a hotter fire in my log fireplace?

A. — Do not remove all the wood ashes from the open fireplace. Leave some of them as a bed for the next fire. These ashes will retain a great amount of heat and give a quicker and hotter fire.

Q. — What causes a cake to rise only in the center, and not around the edges?

A. — This is caused by the oven being too hot.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Readers: Recently I printed a letter signed "Elsie's mother." It told of an insulting caption which appeared under Elsie's picture in the high school yearbook. The girl was heartbroken.

I expressed outrage that a handful of students should be given the power to cause such unhappiness. I asked for comment and got it—by the ton.

My desk is piled high with expressions of compassion for Elsie. Fewer than 50 letters criticized Elsie for being thin-skinned. I came in for some knocks, too, because I asked, "Where were the faculty advisers?" (Some students regard faculty advisers as censors whose role inhibits freedom of speech.)

Here are samples of the mail:

LOS ANGELES: I was graduated from a St. Louis high school in 1936. Under the picture of my sweetheart appeared this caption, "An empty vessel makes lots of noise."

I married the "empty vessel." He is now president of a Midwestern university and is a very successful human being. I've kept track of the two students who wrote the cutting yearbook caption. High school big shots were as big as they ever got.

CLEVELAND: Elsie's humiliation reminded me of my own yearbook experience. I was one of the overendowed girls — measuring 40-22-26. A clique of boys nicknamed me "Mt. Shasta." When this nickname appeared under my picture I wanted to die. That name followed me to college and it was years before I was able to shake it.

A Tragic Example

Dear Ann: Please don't identify our city. We've already had too much bad publicity. I write to you only to show how cruel young people can be, and to plead for faculty guidance.

The yearbook committee placed this caption under the picture of a frail boy who was a polio cripple — "and now we have the Olympic winner of the 100-yard dash." The yearbook came out on a Friday. The following Sunday the boy hanged himself.

YOUNGSTOWN: Last year a senior girl became pregnant and just barely made it through graduation. This caption greeted her when she opened her high school annual: "Surprise Package!"

Her parents were furious. They, like you, Ann, asked, "Where was the faculty adviser?" Well, there wasn't one.

PITTSBURGH: I wish the cry babies who can't stand to hear the truth about themselves would take a flying leap into the ocean. If a person is dumb enough to get on bad terms with the yearbook staff, he deserves whatever they write about him.

APPLETON, Wis.: When I read your advice to Elsie's mother I cheered. As a faculty adviser I battled for years against captions and class prophecies. It was a great day to eliminate them from our yearbook.

We now print only the senior's list of activities, using as our philosophy: "By their deeds shall ye know them."

PEORIA, Ill.: Although I was a member of the National Honor Society and held offices in music and literary groups the space reserved for activities was left blank. Next to my picture the caption read, "Generally speaking, she's generally speaking."

The girl who did the dirty work put beside her own picture, "She was meant for heaven not earth."

CHICAGO: In our high school this line appeared under a girl's picture: "Only for her friends — and she doesn't have an enemy in the world."

Several hundred books were printed before the girl's parents heard of it. When they threatened to sue the school board the books were junked at great expense.

That was the end of captions — and the beginning of faculty advisers.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — President Antonin Novotny of Czechoslovakia left today for a six-day visit to Yugoslavia and talks with Marshal Tito.

Discussions between the two Communist leaders are expected to concentrate on the dispute between the Soviet Union and Communist China. The official Yugoslav news agency Tanjug said only that Novotny and Tito would discuss "mutual cooperation and international issues."

Tito is known to oppose Soviet Premier Khrushchev's call for a Communist summit meeting to deal with the dispute on the ground that such a meeting would split the world Communist movement.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dr. Eugene Ormandy, conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra, returned Sunday from a 26-day road tour with his musicians. On hand to greet them at the airport were 300 well-wishers — and a 200-piece high school band.

Dr. Ormandy recalled the orchestra's performance at Tempe, site of Arizona State University. It was the first concert in a new $3.5-million auditorium, one of the last designed by the late Frank Lloyd Wright.

Ex-Bellboy Held In Beating Death Of Conneaut Girl

JEFFERSON, Ohio (AP)—A onetime bellboy from Las Vegas faced arraignment today on a first-degree murder charge stemming from the beating death of a high school girl in a lovers lane.

Ashtabula County Sheriff Thomas Fasula said Robert L. Pruett, 26, of Ashtabula, orally admitted Sunday that he beat 17-year-old Susan Osborne when she resisted his advances in an isolated area near a creek in North Kingsville.

The girl's nude body was found in high grass Saturday night by a 12-year-old boy on a fishing trip with his father. Her clothing was nearby.

Dr. J. R. Higerd, the coroner, said there was evidence the girl had been sexually molested. He said she suffocated after her windpipe was broken—possibly by a blow from a fist. Her jaw was shattered and several teeth knocked out.

The coroner placed the time of death at early Tuesday.

Miss Osborne was last seen Monday night in Conneaut. She was a junior at Conneaut High School.

Ex-Bellboy Held In Beating Death Of Conneaut Girl

JEFFERSON, Ohio (AP)—A onetime bellboy from Las Vegas faced arraignment today on a first-degree murder charge stemming from the beating death of a high school girl in a lovers lane.

Ashtabula County Sheriff Thomas Fasula said Robert L. Pruett, 26, of Ashtabula, orally admitted Sunday that he beat 17-year-old Susan Osborne when she resisted his advances in an isolated area near a creek in North Kingsville.

The girl's nude body was found in high grass Saturday night by a 12-year-old boy on a fishing trip with his father. Her clothing was nearby.

Dr. J. R. Higerd, the coroner, said there was evidence the girl had been sexually molested. He said she suffocated after her windpipe was broken—possibly by a blow from a fist. Her jaw was shattered and several teeth knocked out.

The coroner placed the time of death at early Tuesday.

Miss Osborne was last seen Monday night in Conneaut. She was a junior at Conneaut High School.
